Third Rail Kills Woman in Park St.

An attractive, well-dressed woman paused in front of a gum-machine mirror in the subway station of Park Street Under today.

She adjusted a fashionable hat, powdered her thin, patrician nose and dabbed a bit of rouge on her cheeks.

A moment later she was dead in the train pit.

She fell or jumped into the path of a Cambridge-bound train roaring into the station but the train never touched her.

Her body touched the third rail and she was electrocuted as Motorman William J. Fahey brought his train to a stop a few yards from her body. Screech of brakes mingled with screams of witnesses.

In her possession police found papers and bank books with the name, Ruth H. Morse, and two addresses—Andover street, North Wilmington, and Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay. Apparently she was about 38 years old. Morgue attendants said her right leg was artificial.

Kennedy Back, Hears No 1940 Bee

(By Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 20—Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, came home today on the liner Queen Mary and emphatically stated he is not seeking the 1940 Democratic nomination for the presidency.

He said:

"I have a job to do in London and I promised the President I would do it. Any idea of seeking the nomination would be a breach of faith."

What his attitude will be if the nomination seeks him he did not say.

MET BY "SON JAMES"

Kennedy made the following points in a press interview aboard the liner after being greeted by James Roosevelt, son of the President, and members of the mari-

Marconi's Daughter Weds

SPOLETO, Italy, June 20 (AP)—Degna Marconi, a daughter of the late inventor, Marchese Guglielmo Marconi, was married today to Professor Gabrielle Paresce, press attache of the Italian embassy at London.

Elissa's Kiss

When Elissa Landi, film star, kissed Nino Martini, Metropolitan Opera tenor, bon voyage at the dock in New York, tongues started wagging. But wedding plans were denied by Count Carlo Landi, her father. Nino sailed for Italy to see sister wed.

Beats Wife, Fires Home, Slays Self

Ending a macabre night which included the beating of his wife, a battle with a step-daughter, flames from a fired house and a frantic race, barefooted, across four miles of woods and swamp, Joseph Brabant killed himself early today in a Tewksbury greenhouse.

Sought for hours, Brabant, 37, and who lived in Baldwin road, Billerica, was found dead, his head sagged in a pail from which lethal fumes still bubbled out of a mixture of two acids.

Blood still trickled from the feet that had borne him across the back country from the Billerica home where, his wife and step-children said, he had attempted to burn them, after sprinkling the lower floor rooms with kerosene.

After the night of terror, which resulted in Mrs. Mary Brabant, 48, suffering two black eyes, the loss of many teeth and severe lacerations, Brabant apparently had headed straight for the greenhouse, where he had worked only a week.

Here, according to Medical Examiner Marshal L. Ayling, he had dumped the contents of two chemicals into a pail and then had thrust his head into the bucket.

Deadly fumes bubbled out of the

$8,000,000 Road Bill Is Vetoed

Governor Hurley today, as predicted, vetoed the measure under which the state would distribute $8,000,000 to cities and towns for local highway work.

Once before, the Governor succeeded in having the measure put back under a supreme court ruling on the ground that it was improperly submitted.

He has an alternative measure, submitted last week but not yet acted upon by the legislature.

This was contained in his special message to the legislature, asking approval of a $23,000,000 state bond issue to finance a program of construction of highways and buildings as an employment relief measure.

Urges Security Fund Pay Cut

State Treasurer William E. Hurley today sponsored the move of Governor Hurley toward elimination of employe contributions in this state to the unemployment-social security fund.

Treasurer Hurley appeared before the Senate committee on ways and means with figures to show that this state would have a surplus of approximately $55,000,000 by the first of January if employes were still obliged to contribute.

He said the taxpayers should "have the load of taxation lightened in order to produce a stimulant to buying power, which would be of some assistance to business."

KILLS BOY ON BIKE

SCOTLAND, Ct., June 20 (INS)—Riding his bicycle out of the driveway at his home, Eugene La Marche, Jr., seven, was killed today when struck by an automobile driven by Frank Still, Jr., 28, of Baltic, according to police.

Another Day of Terror!

Berlin Jews Face New Perils

BERLIN, June 20 (AP)—For Jews of Berlin, another day of persecution today extended what probably is the greatest wave of anti-Semitism since the Nazis came to power five years ago.

Now, after three weeks of raids and defacement of Jewish-owned stores, they found that, at least in the borough of Wiessensee, they were forbidden to buy in Aryan food shops.

Placard-pasting crews appeared in that northern suburb, and Aryan grocers, bakers and butchers were surprised to find large red posters stuck on their windows, reading:

"We Don't Sell to Jews."

Jews arriving at their places of business found that Sunday night paint squads had invaded the downtown district and left no Jewish shop or nameplate untouched by their red paint.

DOWNTOWN SECTION

Most of the night's raids were in downtown Berlin along Leitzfiger and Frieerith streets, two main shopping thoroughfares.

There still are several thousand Jewish-owned business places in Berlin, in the downtown section, in the fashionable West End and in the poorer northern and eastern boroughs.

The smearings on windows of "Jew!" and the Star of David, an ancient symbol of Judaism, have been explained officially as the result of an "influx of asocial Jewish elements."

Nazi anti-Semitic demonstrations began as early as April 1, 1933, two months after National Socialism came to power, but the past weeks apparently have been the worst for Germany's Jewry.

CHECK ALL TENANTS

Dependable sources reported that all party functionaries had orders months ago to check carefully into the racial ties of tenants in every Berlin apartment house, and especially to keep track of Jews living in each district.

Intimidated and terrified by the unceasing campaign against them, many Jewish shops remained closed this morning.

A Jewish home for the aged in the West End, located close to a school, ordered its inmates to keep lights out at night in front rooms so they would not be targets for stones.

It has become a custom among schoolboys to march past the institution and shout anti-Jewish slogans.

BERLIN SCENE—Stopping to read a storefront sign are Nazi citizens. Troopers have pasted up the poster shown. Last three words at bottom are "Jews are not wanted."

U.S. Indicts 18 As Nazi Spies

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Three indictments naming 18 persons were returned today by the federal grand jury engaged in the government's first intensive espionage investigation since the World War.

The indictments were based on four weeks of closed hearings.

Two surprise witnesses — Johanna Hofmann, 26, red-haired hairdresser on the North German Lloyd liner Europa, and Privats Erich Glaser, attached to the army air corps at Mitchel Field—were called before the jury shortly before the indictments were returned. Each is held in $25,000 bail on complaints alleging espionage.

NAME NAZI OFFICIALS

The jury filed a conspiracy indictment naming the 18 individuals, some of them German officials residing in Germany, and two substative indictments, setting forth activities allegedly engaged i nby various defendants.

Lamar Hardy, federal district attorney, said the directing heads of the alleged espionage ring live in Germany and are connected with the government of that country. He said they operated through agents living here and through sailors on ships plying between Germany and the United States.

Lieut. Commander Udo von Bonin and Lieut. Commander Herman Menzel, both of the defense office, Reich war ministry, counter-espionage section.

Red Cross Calls Halt to Bombings

LONDON, June 20 (INS)—The world-wide Red Cross was asked today to try to do something to "restore civilization to a sanity which will at least stop the killing of the helpless and innocent by warring forces."

The plea was made to the international convention of Red Cross by Norman H. Davis, national chairman of the American Red Cross, following his election as chairman of the board of governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, comprising the Red Cross organizations of 61 nations. The conference is holding its session in St. James' palace.

While refraining from openly attacking the ruthless slaughter of defenseless civilian populations in Spain's civil war and in Japan's undeclared war on China, Davis did say "the suffering of millions of civilians in China has been appalling."

WORK IN SPAIN

Regarding Spain, he reported the international Red Cross committee, of which Prof. Max Huber is president, and the League of Red Cross societies have made great efforts on behalf of the suffering in Spain.

Reminding the conference that the Red Cross was born on the battlefield 75 years ago to lessen the suffering of warfare by nursing the wounded, Davis said:

"But today the Red Cross finds itself with the ever increasing burden of aiding, not alone those under arms who may be wounded, but also noncombatants who, through no fault of their own, are suffering the same fate as soldiers actually engaged in the fighting. Such aid we shall continue to afford, to the best of our ability.

SLAUGHTER OF INNOCENTS

"But it is also our manifest duty to do what we can to prevent the needless slaughter and suffering of women and children, irrespective of what may be the so-called military objectives."

He said while it was not the function or power of the Red Cross to determine the rules and methods of warfare "the Red Cross cannot be indifferent to the destructiveness of modern warfare and to the appalling increase in human suffering which it entails."

"It is now finding its victims, to an increasing extent, among civilians," Davis continued. "Almost daily, bodies of innocent women and children are being shattered and destroyed through the bombing of open cities. There is not a person among us whose conscience is not shocked by the revolting and needless slaughter and maiming of helpless women and children.

"MUST RESTORE SANITY"

"Something must be done to restore civilization to a sanity which will at least stop the killing of the helpless and innocent by warring forces. To this end the Red Cross of the world, representing as it does man's finest and most humane instincts, must throw the full weight of its great moral influence.

". . . If we are to be true to our ideals, we must continue to work unselfishly through the league, holding true to that course of human kindness, of human sympathy, and human understanding. Thus the Red Cross can help the people of the world, not only to relieve suffering as it is inflicted on humans in war and in peace, but also to move forward toward the attainment of what we all so earnestly desire—peace, goodwill, and fellowship among mankind."

Divorce Action Surprise!

After 7 Years, It's All Over For Bigelows

The fall of a gavel in an almost deserted Suffolk county courtroom today marked the end of the glamorous romance between Mary McDevitt of Brighton and Stephen Sohier Bigelow, Back Bay clubman and French war ace.

She was granted an uncontested divorce and custody of their daughter, Stephanie, 2½ years old, by Judge William W. Prest on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. No financial stipulations were filed with her petition.

STARTLED SOCIETY

The appearanceof Mrs Bigelow in court took Suffolk Probate attaches by surprise as the petition heard today by Judge Prest was taken off the docket a few days ago.

At that time it was rumored there had been another reconciliation between the daughter of the Brighton sheriff and her wealthy husband.

There was a reconciliation between them in 1935 when a similar suit filed by her was also taken off the docket because of her nonappearance to prosecute it.

Announcement of the elopement of the couple and their marriage in New York City Hall by a Bowery mission preacher startled Boston society seven years ago.

The bride evoked the wrath of her father, Deputy Sheriff William A. McDevitt, for forsaking family tradition by being married without church ceremony, while Mrs. Joseph Bigelow, Cohasset and Boston socialite, mother of the groom, closed her door to them on their return from New York.

STEPHEN S. BIGELOW

Unruffled by the storm of criticism and protest, Bigelow and his bride sailed to Tahiti for their honeymoon, and after spending several months there came back to Boston to make their home.

HE'S IN BERMUDA

For the past five or six years they have lived in Boston, New York and Bermuda, and it was in the British vacation resort that Bigelow was said to be now living.

This is the second divorce for Bigelow. Shortly after the World War he was divorced from Anne Meredith, famous London actress, who is now Lady Sackville-West.

UNCONTESTED—Mrs. Mary Loretta McDevitt Bigelow today was granted an uncontested divorce from Back Bay clubman, Stephen Sohier Bigelow, on grounds of cruelty in Suffolk county court. She won custody of child.

Liner Lands 79 Tourists Here

With 108 tourists aboard, the Canadian National liner Lady Hawkins returned today from a 30-day cruise to Bermuda and the British West Indies. Seventy-nine passengers debarked at Commonwealth Pier.

Landing here was Dr. Philip A. Edwards, captain of the Canadian Olympic track team in 1936, who entrained immediately for New York, where his mother is seriously ill.

Dr. Edwards for 11 months has been resident surgeon of the Marbadoes General Hospital. His home is in Toronto.

Others landing here included Mrs. D. M. Killoran and Mrs. Sydney Reiss of Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Clarke of Boston, Miss Kathleen Hannifi and Miss Mary Durkin of Waltham.

Magic Birth! Hypnotism Ends Pain

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (INS)—Culminating a three-week period of post-hypnotic suggestion on the mother's part, a healthy 8-pound baby girl was born without pain here today to Mrs. Ethel Pardie Gaynor, mother of six children.

In attendance when the baby was born—the first "hypnotic baby" in Los Angeles—were Drs. G. P. Kalinozes, Grant Gould Speer and Leo Gaynor, psychotherapist and husband of Mrs. Gaynor.

"Three weeks ago I sowed the first suggestion' in Mrs. Gaynor's conscious mind," Dr. Gaynor explained. "I could have been 1000 miles distant and the child would have been born painlessly just the same.

Mrs. Gaynor, smiling and jubilant over the successful birth, declared the delivery was painless.

"I can truthfully say," she said, "that this was a painless birth. I know the throes of pain a mother endures from previous experience.

"During the birth, well, it seemed that I dozed off for a moment; then there was a lot of excitement around me and Dr. Speer was holding the baby.

"I am most happy the experiment was a success, and I hope it will aid future mothers to escape the pain of c' ildbirth."

2 More Give Up In Revere Probe

Two more of the 39 men indicted by the "blue ribbon" grand jury in its investigation of rackets in Revere surrendered here today.

They are Jake (Tootsie) Stuttman and Roderick McKay. They are charged with conspiracy to maintain a gambling nuisance.

At the same time, Assistant District Attorney Garret Byrne announced the first witness to go before the jury today as it resumed its Revere clean-up would be Arthur Hsblow, a taxicab company executive.

Byrne said the probe today centred in alleged horse-rooms whose telephone headquarters, wired to all tracks in the United States, were located but a stone throw from City Hall.

He predicted telephone officials would follow Hablow in describing long-distance setups.

In Middlesex County it was reported plans were being laid for an extensive grand jury investigation of alleged gambling rackets in Somerville and Everett. It is charged these cities harbored gamblers who fled from Revere when Attorney-General Dever cracked down on them a few months ago.

No Degree for Her

GWENDOLYN WILDER, known as Wellesley's prettiest senior and the charm behind a watch company's ads, was refused a degree today because she "had a cold" and flunked a general examination.

That Nasty Old Cold!

Wellesley Fairest Flunks Exams

Because she "had a cold" and flunked a general examination covering her work for the past four years, Wellesley's prettiest senior failed to receive her degree today with the rest of her classmates.

She is Gwendolyn Wilder of Madison, N. J. — and you may have seen her face, for she has smiled at you out of advertisements of a nationally known watch manufacturing company.

Voted prettiest of her class, Miss Wilder was prominent in undergraduate activities at Wellesley.

She was president of the Wellesley Athletic Association and was a Tree Day aide.

In spare time, she posed as a commercial model. She planned to continue this work after graduation.

Not until almost time for her to appear in cap and gown and receive her diploma did Miss Wilder finally learn that she had failed in her examination and could not get her degree.

"I don't know what the trouble was, the day of the examination, except that I had an awful cold and felt terribly," she said. "My past marks had always been good."

WEDS ON CRUTCHES

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 20 (AP)—Mrs. Forest Millspaugh was recovering today from injuries suffered when she was Miss Elzina Seward. Injured in an automobile accident en route to her wedding, she borrowed crutches, went to the wedding, then to a hospital.

Russ Prince Loses Plea

Prince Nicholas Demidoff, exiled Russian nobleman now of Boston, was denied a divorce today from pretty Princess Pavia Demidoff.

He had charged that she once said she thought more of her favorite polo pony than she did of him.

The prince's divorce petition, charging desertion, was dismissed in Suffolk probate court by Judge Frederick J. Dillon.

Said the princess, as she left the courthouse:

"I was amazed that Nicky tried to get a divorce. I thought he was too much a gentleman.

"I am going now to Canada for a rest I need very much. When I come back, I will wait a year and then I, myself, will bring suit for divorce. And I will get it, too."

A principal witness for Princess Demidoff today was her sister, Mrs. Nina Miles of Fairfield, Ct.

She testified the prince and princess occupied a room at her home for several months in 1936.

This was allegedly after the time of the "desertion" charged by Prince Demidoff.

According to his testimony, his trouble with his wife started when he wanted to sell a polo pony, because it was lame.

Summer to Blow In on a Breeze

Blue skies and moderate temperatures will usher in official arrival of summer tomorrow, government forecasters predicted today.

Cool breezes from the north seemed likely to keep the mercury from soaring to uncomfortable heights, the weather man said.

Old Sol will reach his farthest north of the year at 10:04 p. m. tomorrow. At that hour and minute, summer will be here, even though you can't see the sun.

the racing locomotive pitched into the creek. Seven of the 12 cars behind it piled up in a jackstraw heap of rent steel.

Railway officials said the train carried at least 155 passengers and a crew of 10 men.

With 17 known dead, 44 in hospitals, 37 treated for minor injuries, and 41 others reported unharmed, rescue workers were hopeful the total dead would not exceed 40. J. J. Oslie, assistant general passenger agent, was at the scene and estimated the dead would number 36. Rescue workers agreed that many more lives might have been lost had not the more cool-headed passengers and crew members skillfully aided them out of the water-filling cars.

LITTLE HEROINE'S LOSS

At the hospital and at the Miles City morgue where relatives came to claim their dead, stories of tragedy and of heroism were told by the survivors.

Ten-year-old Anne Ladas, whose mother was dead and whose father was missing, related how she tried desperately to keep her mother's head above the swirling water.

When the mother, Mrs. Thomas Ladas, fainted from shock, the small girl grabbed her hair and held her head above water for several minutes.

Anne's brother, nine-year-old George, suffered a broken arm. Unable to comprehend the tragedy, he kept crying

"I want my mamma and daddy."

"But you haven't any mamma and daddy any more," the boy's sister tried bravely to explain.

The family was en route home to Bellingham, Wash., from a visit to Greece.

PORTER SAVES LIVES

A Negro porter on the train, Lew Williams, was credited by survivors with possibly saving several lives by calmly directing passengers out of his car.

One of the cars teetered on the bank several minutes before it slid into the water with the others.

Seven Milwaukee railroad employes, who knew Custer Creek as a ravine that usually carried no more than "a bucket of water," were riding the Olympian as passengers. They joined the regular trainmen in helping out survivors, and two of them telephoned first news of the tragedy to Miles City.

Mike Cain and Ed Hamm, brakemen, crawled over the twisted pile of steel cars, made their way to Saugus, a small station, and telephoned for help.

A VETERAN'S STORY

William Shearer, veteran Milwaukee engineer, said the railroad men were "chewing the fat" in the first day coach when the crash occurred.

"I thought we were just on the ground at first," Shearer said. "Then I realized we were in water and I said: 'Boys, we're in the old Yellowstone.'

"It was a few minutes before I found out it was Custer creek. Why, I've put a train over these tracks thousands of times, and I never saw more than a bucket of water in that creek at once!

"Well, we all crawled out of our coach. It was hard to see much. The mail, express and baggage cars, which were between us and the locomotive, were piled up every which way.

"We crawled along the pile like monkeys, wondering how anyone could be alive.

"Cain and Hamm were the first to get out on the bank. Then Chris McGee—he was the conductor of the train—and I get out.

WOMAN FLOATS TO DEATH

"We all crawled back over the wreckage again—I knew the boys in the engine must be dead. We saw a woman jump out of a window she smashed. She floated down against the pile of wreckage and I think she must have drowned.

"Her husband yelled for us to help her, but it was no use.

"The other men in our group helped the people get out of the cars, but it was bad going."

The locomotive leaped the bridge gap with such speed that it landed on the west bank of the creek, carrying Engineer Frank Merrifield and Fireman H. E. McCoy with it.

Ellis Lund and Thomas Thoreson of Dawson, Minn., together helped "15 to 20" persons from another car.

"It was like a dream. I hardly know how I got out," Lund said later.

"The first I knew it was as if we were going through air," Thoreson related.

"Then there was a terrible bump. I didn't know what happened. The water started pouring in. People in the other part of the car screamed and fought to get out."

Two wreckers sent to the scene were unable to drag out the submerged tourist sleeper because of the depth of the flood water.

Most of the survivors and some of the less seriously injured continued westward.

The wreck was the first on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul lines in 20 years that cost a passenger's death.

Tragedy

Mighty Engine Twisted Mass After Dive

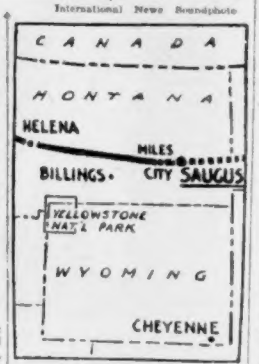
Directs Work On Wreck With Wife Victim

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20 (AP)—Ernest H. Johnson of Miles City, division engineer for the Milwaukee Railroad, notified of the "Olympian" wreck and told to start salvage work, cried:

"My God, my wife's on that train!"

Mrs. Johnson's body was recovered and identified.

Johnson worked through last night, directing the clearing of the creek bed where the train piled up early yesterday.



JOURNEY'S END—Map shows where seven cars of 11-car west-bound train plunged through weakened bridge in Montana with toll of more than 40 dead and missing.

Wreck's Horrors Are Revealed by 2 Eye-Witnesses

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20 (INS)—An airplane pilot and a photographer, among the first persons to reach the scene of the wreck of the Olympian, related graphic stories of the tragedy to International News Service today.

A. A. Morang, Miles City photographer, said:

"The mere sight of twisted wreckage was terrifying. You could see bodies, with arms and legs askew, sticking out through windows of sleeping cars that were mired into the muddy bottom of Custer Creek.

"I saw men and women crawling through broken windows, manage to claw themselves half way out and then battle fruitlessly against the torrent. I saw some of the people fight their way out. Others were drawn by suction back into the cars."

BODIES STILL THERE

R. F. Kitchenman, who flew photographers back and forth over the creek and also piloted rescue workers across the water, said:

"I could see one car with the entire floor broke away. Two seats remained intact, virtually suspended in midair.

"The greatest difficulty in rescue work was the complete inaccessibility of the wreck. Roads were and still are blocked. Great pools of water cover most of the roads and make traffic over them almost impossible.

"When rescuers did reach the south bank of the creek, they had to use an airplane or motor boat to get across.

"We're afraid there are a great many bodies still in the submerged sleepers, part of which can just be seen through the muddy water.

CARS IN LAYERS

"The locomotive and tender present the main obstacles to getting to the sunken cars. The locomotive is buried deep in slimy mud and is turned over on its side. The tender is on top of the locomotive and the baggage car is on top of that.

"Under it all, or partly caught by it, lie the sleepers. The creek is still treacherous, making rescue work very hard even though the water is receding a little.

"The roads to Custer Creek were black all day with autos, adding confusion because many of them stalled.

"More than 5000 people at times ranged along the bank, some trying to help, others just standing there.

"When, finally, the high waters began going down, I saw the worst sight I have ever beheld. Bodies were everywhere. I think some of the bodies must have floated down the creek."

Former Convict Again In Toils at Milton

Only nine days after his release from State Prison, Arthur C. Schultz, 38, was held again today by Milton police charged with breaking and entering and larceny in four house breaks.

Schultz, one-time Lawrence resident, has been an inmate of Federal, state and county prisons and jails during much of the last 22 years.

He was captured on Brook road, Milton, and immediately charged with being the "stocking-foot" burglar who robbed the Milton homes of Roger Pierce, president of the New England Trust Company; Henry H. Watson, Boston insurance broker; Dr. Walter A. Lane and Dr. J. Blake Lombard.

According to police, Schultz was wearing clothes and carrying jewelry taken in the breaks. Dr. Watson told police he surprised a stocking-foot robber in his home.

The prisoner's record, which includes aliases of Richard C. Walsh and Arthur Cronin, began in 1916 when he was sent to Shirley School. A year later he went to Concord Reformatory. He was returned to Concord in 1918 and in 1922 was sent to Deer Island. He escaped from that institution a year later.

Schultz was sentenced to serve three years in Leavenworth in 1924 and in 1927 was sentenced to five to 10 years in Leavenworth for a burglary in Kansas. In 1930 he was brought back to Massachusetts for the Deer Island escape and was released a year later.

He was sentenced to State Prison on September 12, 1932, for breaks in both Norfolk and Middlesex counties.

Land, Sea Search For Missing Plane

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 20 (AP)—Land, sea and air searchers were organized today for a Pan American-Grace airliner missing with a crew of four on a flight from here to Antofagasta.

The plane carried freight and mail but no passengers.

Two of the crew, Pilot Donald Sheets and Co-Pilot Robert Supple, were Americans, and two were Chileans.

Survivor of Train Wreck Tells Story of Tragedy

(Editor's note: In the following article, Paul Gehrig, 16-year-old Minneapolis high school student and a passenger on the ill-fated Milwaukee train which plunged into a creek near Miles City, Mont., with losses of more than a score of lives, tells how he and other survivors escaped from the wreck.)

By PAUL GEHRIG

As Told to International News Service.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20 (INS)—I was asleep when the train plunged into the creek.

The first thing I can recall is hearing a terrific crash. The force of the crash threw me from my berth into the aisle. The aisle was jammed with people sprawled about like ten-pins. Many of them were moaning and yelling.

WATER RUSHING IN

The car I was in was half turned over on its side. Almost as quickly as I was spilled in the aisles the water came rushing in. I managed to crawl through a window to the top side of the car.

It was night, you know, and everything was pitch black. But I could dimly make out splashing in the raging waters of the creek. I guess they were people trying to swim ashore.

I finally crawled over the roof of another car and got to dry land. I was dazed, and the confusion was terrible.

SHOUTING, SCREAMING

But I remember distinctly that the porters of the train piled in without a moment's hesitation to try to get people out of the wreck. It was still all black and many were still shouting and screaming.

I guess it was an hour before the screaming died out altogether. After someone ader was restored I learned that many of the other survivors, in fact most of them, had to craw' over other cars on their hands and knees, like I did, to get to safety.

I was on my way to the West Coast for a vacation but I don't know now.

At Brown University the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, famous "racket buster," at the 170th graduating exercises of the Providence college.

505 GRADUATE

The baccalaureate degree was conferred today upon 505 seniors, the largest class in the history of Dartmouth.

Ten persons, including Hull, Dr. James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University, and John James Robinson, president of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, were recipients of honorary awards.

The citation accompanying the honorary academic accolade of doctor of laws conferred upon Secretary Hull declared that amidst the "crucial problems of present-day diplomacy" he had been able to "win respect abroad and confidence at home."

Others receiving the honorary Doctorate of Laws were President Conant, Judge Hand, Sir Edward Wentworth Beatty, Chancellor of McGill University, and Henry Hoyt Hilton of Chicago.

OTHERS HONORED

President Robinson of the telephone company was awarded the honorary degree of Master of Arts; Dorothy Thompson Lewis, the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters; Rev. Robert Grenville Armstrong, secretary of the New Hampshire Congregational Christian Conference, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity; and Thomas Augustus Jaggar of Honolulu the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

Northeastern

A class of 367 seniors will receive their degrees in course and four honorable degrees will be conferred at the 38th annual commencement exercises to be held tonight by Northeastern University at the Boston Arena.

An audience of 8000 is expected to hear the commencement address, "What Is Expected of the Graduate Today?" to be delivered by U. S. Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Brown

Besides the degree to District Attorney Dewey, other honorary degrees awarded by Brown and conferred by President Henry W. Wriston were: James Harold Williams, executive of the Narragansett Council, Boy Scouts of America, Master of Arts; Rev. William Reid, Providence, R. I., Doctor of Divinity; Professors Walter G. Cady and Frederick Slocum, both of Wesleyan University, Doctors of Science; Dr. Edmund Cody, Burnett, Washington, D. C., Doctor of Letters; President Meta Glass, Sweet Briar College, Va., Doctor of Laws; Dr. Lewis W. Douglas, McGill University, Doctor of Laws, and Judge Allyn L. Brown, Norwich, Ct., Doctor of Laws.

27 Jesuits Ordained

Twenty-seven new young Jesuit priests from various sections of New England said first masses in the college chapels today after their ordination into the priesthood at Weston College.

Most Rev. Thomas A. Emmet, S. J., D. D., Vicar Apostolic of Jamaica, B. W. I., and titular Bishop of Tuscamia, was the ordaining prelate.

The new priests, all members of the Society of Jesus, are Gerald F. Hutchinson, James B. Shea, Hubert F. Cunniff, Thomas L. Burke, James L. Foley, John A. Golden, John P. Deevey, John F. Devlin, Francis X. Wilkie, Thomas P. Ward, Edmund A. Hogan, F. Barry, John A. Hinchey, Francis J. Gilday, Henry P. Gately, John I. Evanson, Joseph P. Shanahan, Joseph F. MacFarlane, Joseph F. Quane, Leo J. Reilly, Richard A. Drea, Paul R. Power, Harold C. Kirley, James K. Connolly, Carl H. Morgan, Paul J. Murphy and Thomas F. McDermott.

Colby

Alumni, seniors and guests at Colby graduation heard Senator Joseph Bailey (D.) of North Carolina voice the charge that President Roosevelt is attempting to extinguish the Congress and establish a one-man government.

"The menace to both our republic and our Constitution," said the Southern senator, "lies in men in office who cultivate and masses of people who encourage, or tolerate, processes that undermine both Constitution and republic—processes utterly foreign to our democracy.

"We are frankly made aware not only that members of the Congress who resisted executive attack upon the independence of the judiciary will be the victims of active administration opposition, but also efforts are being made to prevent the return to Congress of sitting members who have voted against one or more executive bills."

Senator Bailey received an honorary degree of doctor of laws, as did Governor Barrows of Maine.

Other honorary degree recipients included: Professor Richard C. Gott of Harvard, Isaac Higginbotham, secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention; Dr. Rafe Nelson, Springfield, Mass., and Dr. Richard Cabot of Harvard University.

Wellesley Honors for 340 Grads

Madame Chiang Kai Shek, wife of the generalissimo of the armies of China, and an alumna of Wellesley, was today hailed as an outstanding example of the role educated women play in the world of today by President Mildred McAfee of Wellesley College at the commencement exercises of that institution.

A class of 314 seniors and 26 graduate students received their degrees in Alumnae Hall from President McAfee in the presence of hundreds of parents and distinguished guests of the college.

Paying further tribute to the noted Chinese graduate, President McAfee also declared she had brought to Wellesley a world-wide distinction and by her leadership in China had enhanced the value of a Wellesley degree.

Turning to intramural progress, the Wellesley president announced a forward step in the planned economy of the institution by which all future undesignated moderate contributions will be allocated to interdepartmental projects and not added to building construction, as was formerly the practice.

As an example of the use to which this type of contribution has been put already, President McAfee pointed out that $2000 had been appropriated for special library reference books, $1750 for faculty publications and $1250 for aid in research.

The Wellesley commencement address was delivered by Dr. Ernest Hatch Wilkins, president of Oberlin College who applied the philosophy of Dante in the late 13th and early 14th centuries to conditions of the present day.

Wesleyan

Frank Lloyd Wright, architect, Archibald MacLeish, Pulitzer prize-winning poet, and Arthur T. Vanderbilt, president of the American Bar Association, were among 10 to receive honorary degrees during Wesleyan University's 106th commencement.

Dr. Lewis Douglas, principal of McGill University and former director of the United States budget, awarded degrees to 124 students.

Yale Also To Honor Disney

The principal of it all was slightly embarrassed today, but out of it all came the clear fact that Yale—once again—had beaten Harvard.

Out of clear sky came announcement that old Eli, at New Haven, will confer on the new Hollywood genius a degree not to be announced until Wednesday, when it is presented.

This is a day before the Harvard degree is given the cartoonist, who never went to college but who built up a pen and ink heart tug climaxed with his animated "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

B. U. ALSO RAN

After receiving the Yale degree, Disney will ride north to Cambridge—innocently again it will be rubbing it in—via the New Haven Railroad.

Out of all the confusion, Boston University was an also-ran, Disney having turned down an offer of an honorary degree from B. U. because—he said—the Harvard offer had been received first.

Not until a few hours ago was he informed that he was committed to Yale also, but Disney took it in stride.

"I'm sort of making one-night stands on the college circuit," he said in his suite at New York's Waldorf-Astoria.

"I gonna get them and then run like the dickens before they can take them away. After all, in reality, I'm just a very uneducated so-and-so from the school of hard knocks."

ITS SIMPLE THINGS

Then the old trouper came out in Walt and he broke down and confessed that Snow White always will be his sweetheart. She was, he said, his savior.

"We mortgaged everything to produce it. We were completely in hock."

Asked to what he attributed the amazing success of the animated "Snow White," Disney replied:

"We're sort of a simple people. The simple little things have a tremendous appeal."

De Valera Sure Of Majority in Ireland Vote

DUBLIN, June 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's Fianna Fail party lacked only four seats for an absolute majority of the Dail Eireann (house of representatives) today with 21 seats still to be counted in Ireland's parliamentary election.

Districts tabulated so far gave the Fianna Fail 66 seats; William T. Cosgrave's Fine Gael, the chief opposition, 38; Independents seven, and Labor five in the 138-member chamber.

De Valera watched the final returns with confidence the last districts would assure him another seven years of virtually unchallenged authority in his economically depressed new state.

It was to achieve a majority that could translate his reform program into action that the American-born premier ordered the elections, trusting to his strengthened prestige as a result of the British-Eire economic peace agreement signed last April 25.

He dissolved Parliament May 27 after a government reversal on a minor issue.

In almost every district, De Valera's candidates increased their pluralities.

Harvard Navy Men Sail; One's AWOL

Clarence D. Martin, Jr., Harvard senior and son of the governor of Washington, was reported "A. W. O. L." today when student officers of Harvard's naval science department were taken aboard U. S. destroyers and the battleship Arkansas here for a training cruise to Havana.

"AWOL" means absent without leave, if you remember your war-day slang.

The navy, of course, didn't care whether Cadet Martin showed up or not, but Harvard authorities said he'd flunk his naval science course if he failed to make the Havana trip.

STARS TURNED TARS

Among the 80 Harvard student officers who were on hand at the navy yard to report aboard the destroyers Tillman and Roper and the U. S. S. Arkansas were many varsity athletes and men socially prominent in their class.

The group included Eliot Bacon, Harvard baseball catcher, who was an usher at John Roosevelt's wedding; Austin Harding, football and hockey star; Dick Russell, football; Cliff Wilson, football; Don Prouty, baseball and football, and Dave Shean, baseball.

YALE MEN ABOARD

Chief Clerk John Sargent, at headquarters office of Harvard's naval science department, said Harvard had no official knowledge of Student Officer Martin's whereabouts today, except that he wasn't present when the cruise squad embarked.

The four-week cruise will be to Havana, then back to Annapolis, Md., New York and Boston.

The destroyers and the Arkansas picked up a squad of 100 Yale student officers before coming here for the Harvard squad.

Maine Voters Go to Primary

PORTLAND, Me., June 20—Maine voters went to the polls today on the heels of a bitter primary campaign in which 859 aspirants, 516 of them Republicans, seek nominations for State Congressional and county offices.

Major contest of the heated primary was between incumbent Governor Lewis O. Barrows and his outspoken critic, State Senator Roy L. Fernald, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Former Governor Louis J. Brann was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor, seeking a third term.

Senator Keyes Rites Set for Thursday

NORTH HAVERHILL, N. H., June 20—While funeral plans were being made today for former Senator Henry Wilder Keyes, 76, former governor of New Hampshire, efforts were being made to notify his eldest son, on a wedding trip to California.

The son, Henry W. Keyes, is on board a ship somewhere in the Caribbean, en route to Panama and California.

At the request of the widow, Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, noted writer and magazine editor, radio messages were being flashed to the ship.

Services for the former senator will be conducted Thursday at 3 p. m. from Pine Grove Farm, his home on the Connecticut river.

Known as a real "farmer member" of the United States Senate, Keyes died on the farm built by his father.

He was elected to the Senate in 1918 and re-elected in 1924 and 1930.

He attended Boston public schools and while at Harvard was a track star and member of the football squad. He was elected to the New Hampshire legislature in 1891 and re-elected in 1893. He again entered the legislature in 1913 and was appointed head of the state excise commission.

In 1916 he was elected Governor of the State. During his Senate terms he interested himself chiefly in forestry and agriculture. He brought about the acquisition of several federal tracts of mountain reservation in the White Mountains.

DOUGLAS L. FURNESS

Services were being planned today for Douglas L. Furness, 55, sales engineer for the General Electric Company office in Boston, who died suddenly yesterday at his home on Monroe street, Salem.

He was graduated from Harvard in 1904. He is survived by his mother.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN

Rite for John J. O'Brien, 61, chief of the Belmont police department since 1928, will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at Our Lady of Mercy Church, Belmont. He died yesterday at the New England Deaconess Hospital after a long illness.

A member of the Massachusetts, New England and national associations of police chiefs, O'Brien was widely known in police and civic circles.

Honorary pall bearers will include Governor Hurley, Police Commissioner Timilty of Boston, District Attorney Warren L. Bishop, Executive Councillor Frank A. Brook, and J. Watson Flett, chairman of the Belmont board of selectmen. Chief O'Brien leaves his widow, a daughter and a son.

Kennedy Hears No '1940 Bee'

time commission, which Kennedy formerly chairmaned:

1—He does not expect a world war this year.

2—He will continue as ambassador.

3—He brings with him no plans for settlement of the British war debt, for summonng an international disarmament conference or for making a new monetary deal with Britain or France.

4—Although he will confer with the President Thursday his main object in returning is to witness the graduation at Harvard Wednesday of his eldest son, Joseph, Jr.

CONFIRMS PHONE TALK

Much of his interview was corroborative and reiterative of the Boston Evening American's exclusive transatlantic interview with him last week.

Repeating his denial on that occasion that he intended resigning, he said with regard to another report that he would become paid head of the New York Stock Exchange:

"I definitely would not consider it."

As to the prospect of a disarmament agreement within the next few years:

"Until there is a political basis obtained, it would be very difficult to secure a disarmament agreement, and I haven't heard of any such political basis."

NO PROPHECY ON WAR

As to the world war next year:

"A prophet who would predict on that would be without honor."

He declared he would report his observations gathered abroad to President Roosevelt in Washington on Thursday. He admitted his report on economic conditions would not be particularly cheerful.

Denying he was bringing a plan of readjustment of the tri-partite monetary agreement, Ambassador Kennedy remarked that if there was to be a financial adjustment between the United States and England he certainly would know about it.

"If the United States should devalue, then England, France and every other country would devalue and all the advantages would be lost," he said. "It seems to me the day of devices is gone.

GOLD PRICES SOARED

"I don't know what good devaluation would be to the United States or England. After all, the price of gold went up a great deal more than the price of some commodities."

Recalling that when he sailed to assume his post three months ago, he viewed domestic conditions as "bearish," he added:

"It looks as though we have cried ourselves out now. However, I want to know a great deal more before I try to make further predictions."

Kennedy revealed no American women will be presented at the next royal court on July 5. At the last court he startled the social world by declaring the clamor of debutantes for royal presentation was "undemocratic" and limited the list to seven presentees, composed only of Americans in the British colony.

NO PANTS OBJECTORS

Asked how the British took his refusal to wear knee breeches at court functions, he answered:

"They weren't as unanimous on the subject as on my ruling on court presentations, but nobody objected."

Returning to the subject of his tabooing American women at court presentations, he said that from his mail both American and British accepted his ruling graciously.

"I should judge 91 per cent are in favor of it," he said.

"I think these presentations are not only undemacratic, but very embarrassing to an American ambassador at the court of St. James. It is hard to make a choice of the women and girls to be presented. I don't know them. They all arrive on a boat and learn to curtsy. Then they all get on a boat and are gone."

LISTS CHILDREN

Reminded that his charming wife and his large family of nine children had created a favorable impression in Britain, the Ambassador said:

"I suppose I shouldn't deny that. The number got them."

A reporter asked him to give the various ages of his children.

"When I get down to the smaller one I'm not so sure," he said, as he gave the figures.

A girl reporter asked if it were true that he is bow-legged. He turned on the famous Kennedy smile and said:

"I'll give you a private showing later."

He reported Britain to be on the "down grade" economically, but expressed the belief the United States was coming out of its severe depression.

Ambassador Kennedy will sail for Europe on June 29 aboard the S. S. Washington. He will be accompanied by his son, Joseph, Jr.

Bostonian Raps British Plan to Split Palestine

JERUSALEM, June 20 (AP)—The British proposal to partition Palestine for establishment of independent Jewish and Arab states was attacked today by Professor Benjamin Akzin of the Portia Law School of Boston.

Appearing at the first public hearing by a British commission studying the plan, the professor declared the Arab state would conquer the Jewish state at the first opportunity.

He argued that neither of the proposed states could support itself and that the Jewish state could not meet the need for world-wide Jewish migration.

Akzin, director of the political section of the New Zionist organization, favored continuation of the present British mandate over Palestine and Transjordan in which 1,500,000 Jews would be permitted to immigrate.

(Transjordan is covered by Britain's Palestine mandate but clauses relating to establishment of a Jewish homeland are expressly excluded from operation there.)

While the hearings went on British troops were on the trail of a band reported as 300 strong which crossed into Palestine from the Lebanese republic and killed three villagers at Hurfeish, near Safed.

Complete Zionization Of Jews Seen Near

Complete Zionization of the Jewish race within 10 years was predicted by Ludwig Lewisohn, critic and novelist, the speaker before 700 persons attending final sessions of the 18th annual convention of the New England Zionist Region, at Hotel Statler.

"The moment has come when Zionism is a burning necessity," Lewisohn declared. "We must alter our policies completely to make a new appeal, not only to Jewish people, but to Christians and all lovers of freedom."

Both Governor Hurley and Mayor Tobin praised the efforts of the Jewish race to re-establish Palestine as their homeland.

Before adjourning, members voted to boycott all German-Austrian goods as a protest against "brutal treatment of Jews."

Region officers re-elected included Ralph F. Bass of Boston, president; Joseph Reder of Mattapan, Joseph Goldberg of Worcester, Dr. Francis Burnee of Dorchester, Max Kabatznick of Boston, Myer Minsky of Bangor, Me., Dr. Morton J. Robbins of Nashua, N. H., Rabbi Joseph S. Shubow of Brighton, Dewey D. Stone of Taunton and Julius Stone of Winthrop, vice-presidents; Bernard W. Marcus of Brookline, treasurer, and Isadore H. Y. Muchnick of Dorchester, secretary.

Elihu D. Stone of Boston was elected honorary life president.

"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man.

TRAGEDY—Badly bruised and with many teeth knocked out, Mrs. Mary Brabant, 48, reviews with daughter, Mary Kosekevitch, 16, macabre events of night in which she was beaten and her Billerica home fired by her husband, Joseph, who later killed himself in a Tewksbury greenhouse.

Group Near Death In Everest Slide

KALIMPONG, India, June 20 (AP)—H. W. Tilman, the leader, and three members of a British expedition which failed recently in an attempt to scale Mt. Everest, were reported to have narrowly escaped death in an avalanche.

Advices reaching Darjeeling, India, said five members of the expedition had decided on another effort in early autumn to reach the top of Mt. Everest.

mixture, and Brabant took no more than two breaths before he was dead, the medical examiner said.

Meanfhile Billerica firemen had extinguished flames in the Baldwin road house, out of which Mrs. Brabant and her four children had staggered to safety.

The mother and children told police that Brabant came home last night about 10:30 and woke Mrs. Brabant.

He had been drinking, she said, and he began to abuse her because she and her children talked among themselves in Polish, a language of which he understood little.

BEATEN WITH FISTS

Then he started to beat her with his fists, she said.

The mother ran screaming from the room on the second floor, but he caught up with her and continued the beating.

Just then Johephine Kosekevitch, 23, eldest of the four girls, arrived home in the car of her boy friend.

Screams of Mrs. Brabant brought Josephine and her companion running into the house. When Mrs. Brabant cried for police, they left again in the car.

The other three children, Mary Kosekevitch, 16; Joan, 10, and Marilyn, 8, had been awakened by the smoke and crackling of flames and had rushed to their mother's room.

Pharmacists Hold Annual Session

Several hundred members of the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association went into business sessions at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, today, on the second day of the organization's three-day annual convention.

$1,600,000 Bonds Asked by Tobin

Orders calling for bond issues totaling $1,600,000 were sent to the city council today by Mayor Tobin.

One, for $1,300,000, was to round out the Huntington avenue subway program.

The other, for $300,000, was to complete the underpass at Huntington and Massachusetts avenues.

Both orders were expected and their passage was to be automatic in following out the granting of federal funds.

The mayor also sent an order to the council asking that the power of granting permits for removing curbstones be vested in the mayor's office rather than in the public works department—on the ground that many private interests are taking over much of the public ways.

CCC Plans to Fill 2566 Vacancies

Mrs. Lauretta C. Breanahan, state selecting agent for the CCC, announced today that 2566 vacancies in the corps will be filled between July 5 and July 20.

Every Massachusetts city and town will be given its quota and young men out of work, citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 23, should apply to the local selecting agent.

TAX RATE REPEATS

Despite a drop of $45,000 in real estate valuations from $2,915,937 to $2,871,000 the town of Bedford was able to announce today that its tax rate will be $37 on the thousand, the same figure as last year.

Speed Pledged On Relief Plan

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Heads of five government spending agencies pledged today a quick start on the administration's $3,753,000,000 relief and public works program.

Their detailed outlines for hundreds of bridges, sewers and roads, schools, airports, low-cost housing developments, dams, harbors and flood control units awaited the President's signing of the bill.

In addition, the Agriculture Department studied disbursement of partly payments to farmers growing wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice. Loans for farmers unable to get credit and subsistence grants for low-income farmers also are being arranged.

The five federal officials discussed their programs in a radio forum. Here is a summary of what they said:

Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator:

"The $1,325,000,000 paid to WPA workers will flow into trade channels in their living costs—$515,000,000 for food, $220,000,000 for rent, $150,000,000 for household expenses, and the rest for medical care, transportation and other items.

Howard A. Gray, assistant administrator of Public Works:

"It is our firm purpose . . . to employ all speed so that large orders for materials and supplies will be placed without delay and so that benefit comes to private industry before the builders start construction."

Nathan Straus, United States housing administrator: "Through the slum-clearance and low-cost housing program, slum dwellers will benefit by being given an opportunity for new and better lives; wage earners will benefit by being called back to productive jobs."

Brig. Gen. John J. Kingman, acting chief of Army engineers: "In more than 100 flood control projects and more than 400 river an harbor projects, 75 per cent or more of all the money spent on such works goes for labor, either direct or indirect."

Secretary Wallace: "Through the ever-normal granary system, the farm plan will safeguard consumers against shortages and extremely high prices, and protect the farmers against extremely low prices."

Let Us Proceed With Wisdom

THE spend-lend program submitted to Congress by the President has been adopted. Let us proceed with it promptly and liberally, and get the most inflationary benefit possible out of it.

Let us also proceed with it wisely and foresightedly, which is of course necessary for successful experience with any legislation.

The program will certainly prove of greater benefit IF ACCOMPANIED WITH PROPER ENCOURAGEMENT OF INDUSTRY.

The country probably assumes there will be such encouragement, in order that re-employment of jobless people in industry can be accomplished as speedily as possible.

The spend-lend program, wisely administered, will care for the immediate needs of the unemployed, its sole and commendable purpose.

There is no reason why it should not be wisely administered.

Certainly there should be sufficient ability and sufficient concern for the welfare of the country in administration circles to assure beneficial direction of the program.

WE have chosen the spend-lend course by democratic processes, and we must go forward according to that decision.

Let us demonstrate that democratic administration can be on the highest plane, serving the greatest good of the greatest number of our people.

Let us have administration of this program without extravagance or partisanship or rancor.

Let us have government without malice or punitive intent.

Let us have a UNITED EFFORT of industry, labor and government to encourage, promote and justify a prompt return of normal and prosperous conditions to the country.

The spending-lending program has been adopted. Let us all unite to make it as successful as possible.

Girls Start Perilous Trip

GREEN RIVER, Utah, June 20 (AP)—Two feminine botanists joined four male scientists today for a dangerous river expedition through the rarely-traveled Gdand Canyon.

The party hoped to get their equipment packed and their three boats launched in the Green river here before noon. Southward 120 miles the boats will drift into the turbulent Colorado river and its lonely mile-deep rapids that lead, 300 miles and perhaps 30 days beyond, into Lake Mead behind Boulder Dam, Nev.

"The fact I'm going indicates I think the the trip's feasible," said freckle-faced, tanned Lois Jotter, 25-year-old University of Micvhigan botanist.

70 Million Loaned for New Homes

An extensive campaign is being conducted by the Federal Savings League, regional organization of all federal savings and loan associations of New England, to acquaint home owners, savers and investors with the flexible financing and savings plans now available through these associations. Sponsoring thrift and home ownership, these associations offer low-cost home financing to Massachusetts home owners and insured savings plus liberal yield to Bay State savers and investors.

LOCALLY OWNED, U. S. INSURED

These associations locally owned and managed are chartered and supervised by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board of Washington, D. C., and the savings of their members are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

The average age of the 26 Federal Savings Associations operating in Massachusetts is better than 30 years. Their resources today are over [illegible] of nearly 70 Massachusetts cities and towns. FEDERAL SAVINGS INSURANCE

[illegible] Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation [illegible] Massachusetts Federal Savings and Loan Association [illegible] system requires monthly detailed reports of condition and, at least once a year, complete examination and auditing.

"In addition to the security of good management and Government supervision, all savings and investments in these associations are insured up to $5,000 on each account by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation—a $114,000,000 institution owned and sponsored by the United States Government.

"In view of the security enjoyed by your savings or investments, the yield earned by your money is particularly liberal. Every Federal Savings and Loan Association in Massachusetts has paid 3 per cent or better on semi-annual dividends declared as of Dec. 31, 1937. Next dividend will be declared as of June 30, 1938, although savings or investments start earning monthly.

"As in any other mutual institution, net earnings, less operating expenses and legal reserves for members' protection, are shared by all members. This means that their savings must be put to work to earn money for dividends.

"In Federal Savings Institutions, these savings of our members can be loaned only on first mortgages, chiefly on residential real estate—that is homes—the finest security in the world. Surplus funds, when available, may be invested only in obligations of the United States government.

FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM MEMBER — INSURED SAVINGS AND LOAN INSURANCE CORPORATION

"Our SAVINGS are INSURED By a UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AGENCY!"

Favor Copeland Widow for Seat

NEW YORK, June 20 (INS)—The New York Enquirer today reported that a strong movement has developed throughout the state among both Democrats and Republican followers of the late Senator Royal S. Copeland, favoring the bringing of pressure on Governor Herbert H. Lehman to appoint Senator Copeland's widow, Mrs. Frances Copeland, to the Senate seat made vacant by the death of her husband.

Such a move on the governor's part is being advocated with the realization, the newspaper stated, that the Senator who will take a seat for the next term will be chosen at a convention in the fall and elected in November.

The elected Senator will take his new seat in the Senate in Jan[illegible]

Therefore unless President Roosevelt should call a special session of Congress before January Mrs. Copeland if appointed, would not actually sit unless she should run and be elected to that office, the ring reported.

There are many precedents for the move which the late Senator's friends urge Governor Lehman to make.

Mrs. Huey Long was appointed to take the place of her assassinated senator-husband. In Arkansas, Mrs. Hattie Caraway was appointed to fill the Senate vacancy caused by the death of her husband and she was then elected for a full six-year term.

Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves was named by her husband, Governor [illegible] of Alabama as successor to Hugo Black when the latter was placed on the supreme court bench.

Democratic leaders are in agreement that the appointment of Mrs. Copeland would meet with instant approval throughout the state because of the tremendous popular-

Bailey Seen Ready to Carry On for Copeland

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
(Special to Boston American)

WASHINGTON, June 20. American business has little to fear from the death of Senator Royal S. Copeland (D) of New York.

For three years, as chairman of the commerce committee of the Senate, Senator Copeland was a bulwark of strength to business as he steadily resistance to destructive measures coming within the scope of the committee's jurisdiction.

Senator Josiah W. Bailey (D) of North Carolina, one of the most constructive opponents of the New Deal in the Senate, probably will succeed Senator Copeland as chairman of the commerce committee, as he is now the second in rank on the Democratic side, with Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, being the ranking Democrat.

Senate committee changes always go strictly by seniority and there is little doubt that when Congress next assembles Senator Bailey will be advanced to the chairmanship of commerce, where he will be in a position to carry forward the constructive and conservative policies for which Senator Copeland battled with so much zeal.

Governor Hurley's proposal for bond issues of $23,625,000 to relieve unemployment developed into a clash between some of his department heads and representatives of taxpayers at the State House today.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Monday Morning Musings:

The radio "artiste" who took hold of the airwaves for an interminable period Sunday night (as she probably has of previous Sunday nights) should be introduced as "Miss Reminds-Me-Of" instead of whatever they call her now . . . She merges the worst, the very, very worst features, of at least three creative performers . . . Bob Benchley, Oliver Wakefield—and why an "artiste" should copy him!—and Beatrice Lillie.

George Holland

Then came along "Charlie" . . . If you have never heard "Charlie," by all means lay for him . . . His imaginative technique is to misuse a word, follow with an "I mean" or "-er-," and then misuse another word . . . Your correspondent is going to lay for "Charlie," but he's going to have control of the radio dial the next time . . . And on both "Miss Reminds-Me-Of" and "Charlie," he's going to practice and practice until he ties or smashes whatever the record is for tuning-off . . . By summer's end, with any luck, "Miss Reminds-Me-Of" and "Charlie-my-boy," will be recollectable only as the first vowel of the first syllable they last uttered.

Racing—both horse and dog—will probably survive the Fall plebiscite, but if the time ever comes when the voters say "nay" on the ballot, the history of the twin industries in this region would make marvellous reading . . . If the writer knows his stuff, he will give an unimportant delicatessen man credit for really launching the industry in New Hampshire.

Now worth a million or so, this chap tossed $15,000 into the pot when the situation was truly desperate . . . The story of this gentleman rivals in interest that of the Harry Stevens enterprise, which parlayed a hot dog into millions.

Toot-Toot:

You hear talk that the Democrats have hurt themselves by the prodigious zeal high members of the party have displayed toward policing, also known as "buffing the badge," "piping all hands," "blowing the whistle" or simply "toot-toot."

Many of the citizens who have been, or are being, mildly liquidated—some of them currently shut up in this jailhouse or that—are Democrats . . . As primary-workers, moreover, some of these chappies have been most industrious.

One of the Jeffersonian precepts long in vogue in and about Boston is that 2100 valiant men have been chosen as carefully as civil-service makes it possible, to protect the city and stuff the boys in the hoosegow when they get caught being bad . . . These 2100 policemen should be given a chance to do their own work, this Jeffersonian precept has it.

Once Over Lightly:

Fred Maclsaac, first drama critic of this paper and a great success these many years as a fictionist, was in town to see his son, Donald, Harvard '40 . . . Fred is one of the most prolific modern writers, a veritable American Edgar Wallace . . . Right now, he is coining more money than ever . . . In England, a publisher compiled a volume of Maclsaac writings—some four novelettes and a dozen short stories . . . All of the stories did not carry the familiar Maclsaac by-line . . . The publisher invented names of "authors" for some of the stories.

But the book has gone on to sell more than 2,000,000 copies, and arrangements are being completed for an American reprinting . . . Donald Maclsaac is a pole-vaulter, by the way, and was the only Harvardian to represent the university in that event at a recent big meet . . . One more line about Harvard: Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., who will be graduated this week, will return in September as a member of the Freshman class in Law.

Another amusing race-track incident is the one about Judge Frank Burke, of Roxbury, who has held mutuel tickets on all three horses who have lost their jockeys while running races this season . . . The judge stepped up to a seller's window Friday without his program . . . He slipped a ten dollar bill across the sill and ordered "Push anything!" . . . The ticket-seller took him at his word and the horse that came up was Phalesan, which won and paid $23.60 for two.

Sammy Fuller will be featured at the opening of the Rustic Theater, Dover, N. H., Saturday night. Ben Ford, the Boston booking-agent, is managing the theater . . . Larry Crosby, brother of the crooner, is negotiating for the management of Nye Mayhew, who has the record for long-runs at the Statler.

Japs Warn All Nations of Peril In China

TOKIO, June 20 (AP)—Japan today notified neutral powers that the China war zone probably would be considerably expanded and warned them to take precautionary measures in a vast area extending some 700 miles inland.

General Kazushige Ugaki, foreign minister conveyed the warning in this statement to all foreign embassies and legations in Tokio:

"Japan sincerely desires to avoid possible damage to the lives and property of foreign nationals and advises taking adequate measures.

"Foreign nationals and foreign vessels should evacuate the area south of the Yellow river and east of a line linking Sian, Ichang and Hengyang.

"Aerial and land marks should be placed on foreign property in the area and immediate information given Japanese authorities concerning such property."

Japs Push New Drive By Land and Air

SHANGHAI, June 20 (AP) — Striking both from land and air, the Japanese today sought to blast out the barricade of rock-laden boats at Matowchen which is blocking their drive up the Yangtze river to Hankow.

While Japanese planes continued to bombard the boom an overland column forded the swollen Talen river and marched into Hotow, 30 miles northwest of Matowchen, threatening a rear attack against Chinese forces guarding the barrier.

4595 Civilians Die In Jap Air Raids

CANTON, June 20 (AP)—Chinese officials declared today 4595 civilians were killed by Japanese air attackers in Kwangtung province during the nine months from August 21 1937 to June 7.

They said 13,000 of 1500 were killed in Canton alone during the eleven days from May 28 to June 7, when Japanese air raiders bombed the city every day, and at least 5500 others were injured.

The nine-month toll, they reported, also included 8555 civilians injured.

Bandit Trio Miss $2000 And Timilty

Police today combed Greater Boston for three youthful bandits who staged a dramatic holdup at the Oriental Theater in Mattapan once robbed by the Millens and Faber, just ten minutes after Police Commissioner Timilty had left the building.

In their anxiety to get away through their deception of the theater's assistant manager, the bandits missed $2000 and fled with only $75.

As Richard Crowley, an usher was closing a side door the trio confronted him with pistols and forced him to lead the way to the theater office.

There Assistant Manager Marvin Huban an dtwo other ushers were checking the day's receipts. Told to line up against the wall, one of the ushers thought the holdup was a fake and shoved a member of the bandit gang. He was struck across the face with the barrel of a pistol.

Huban, answering gruff queries insisted the only money in the office was the $75 in change. In a lengthy argument one of the bandits suggested they go to the home of Albert B. Lourie, the manager, kidnap him and force him to open the safe.

Huban convinced the men they would find nothing, though there was actually about $2000 behind the safe door. The bandits then herded Huban and the three ushers into a closet, barricaded it and fled.

Commissioner Timilty had left the theater after the last show only a few minutes before the holdup took place. Several years ago, when the Millens and Faber now executed, held up the theater Huban was one of their victims.

Martin Sees Job Crusade

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Representative Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, said in a statement today that men and women of all parties were joining a crusade to put America back to work.

"A sound American Congress, free of presidential rubber stamps and White House yes-men would release an immediate business upturn," he said.

"The only index to real recovery is jobs. Re-employment will begin the instant orderly constitutional government is made secure."

Knights Wait Hays' Reply on Film Protest

NEW HAVEN, Ct., June 20—The Knights of Columbus supreme board of directors, in quarterly meeting here, today awaited a reply from Will Hays, "czar" of the motion picture industry, to its protest against the motion picture "Blockade," which it termed an excursion into the leftist field of propaganda.

In a telegram sent to Hays, the board protested showing of the picture "without a clear statement from you informing the public that it is a propaganda picture."

The wire condemned the film as historically false and intellectually dishonest in its portrayal of the war in Spain and in its suppression of the facts of the Communist-inspired reign of terror preceding resistance by General Franco's troops.

"Our members and their families await prompt and decisive assurance from you that they can continue to patronize motion picture theaters without being exposed to films that offer, under pretense of entertainment, nothing more than special pleading in behalf of forces inimical to the ideals of American democracy and the Christianity which they profess," the telegram said.

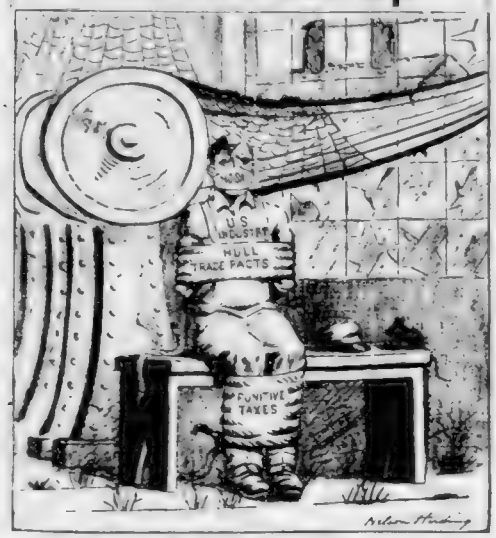
Time to Wake Up!



The Editor Says: Nelson Harding's imaginative cartoon is hardly an exaggeration. Every New Englander recognizes the damage done by Secretary Hull's "free trade" treaties with low standard foreign countries. Especially to jobless textile and shoe workers is the damage apparent.

Japan, whose employes coolie labor and which gives Government subsidies to its exporters, has already benefited from Mr. Hull's generosity in the first sixteen trade pacts which resulted in sales actually totaling 447 American individual tariff rates and IN INCREASING NONE.

But as though that were not enough, Japan is shortly to receive MORE concessions. Every reduction in the pending commercial treaty with Great Britain will be AUTOMATICALLY EXTENDED to the Orient.

Consequently, the unfair competition which has closed so many New England mills and destroyed the jobs of so many thousands of our people will not be removed. It will be INCREASED and MADE WORSE.

Isn't it time we began to wake up. We have suffered enough already.

We have been burdened by punitive taxation on the one hand and an avalanche of cheap Asian goods on the other. And, all the while, the money that is going in the pockets of our own people has been spread across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans to foreign workers who work longer hours for lower wages.

When INCREASED THOUSANDS of our men and women [illegible] to SHUT OFF imports of competitive products which [illegible] found to force additional workers out of employment.

THE OPTOMETRY BILL, rightly vetoed by Governor Hurley, was a particularly bad piece of legislation. The only proper place for it is the Beacon Hill wastebasket, where it now resides.

As the Governor pointed out, the Legislature, there are a number of persons employed in stores whose work would be interfered with by the passage of the bill.

And it would [illegible] legitimate competition. That, of course, was [illegible] to make it less easy for people to [illegible] lowest possible price.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 20.

THE one big factor in the Seventy-Fifth Congress was the "we planned it that way" depression.

But it was not until March that the bewildered bunch of politicians comprising its membership recognized the economic debacle as a major panic.

With incredible stupidity the House poorly led and sunk in inertia, dawdled over tax revision while business and industry sank to lower depths.

Precious months were wasted. An indelible blot marred the record of a Congress which in the Summer of 1937 had risen to a great national emergency and had defied the President in his plan to pack the Supreme Court.

WHEN Congress discovered that what had fallen upon the country was a real depression, the Democratic majority were confronted by the twin horns of a dilemma.

They had the choice of having the panic known as the "Democratic depression" or as the "Roosevelt depression."

Mr. Roosevelt himself, by this time, had slowly awakened to realities. He searched for an alibi. He tried to fasten the blame for the depression on the Economic Royalists, on the "Sixty Families" on big business which refused to cooperate with him — by which he meant that they refused to bow to his dictation and on monopoly.

THE independent Democrats of the Senate suggested that if they [illegible] with [illegible] step Mr. Roosevelt would [illegible] responsibility on [illegible].

These [illegible] Democrats [illegible] that if they conducted a [illegible] against the reorganization bill Mr. Roosevelt might and probably would go to the country with the claim that [illegible] Republicans holding up his program were responsible for the depression.

So they shrewdly decided against a filibuster and Mr. Vandenberg was the emissary who informed Leader Barkley that he could have his [illegible].

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON BOSTON'S NIGHT LIFE—The best place in town to find bait for fishing is in the Public Garden. And each of these "night walkers" represent a tempting dish to dangle before fish whose appetites are inclined to be jaded

But no use to take along a can and go creeping stealthily up to a flower bed as the clock strikes 12. Two policemen patrol the Garden all night long—and they don't approve of worm-stealing

THE MEN who sleep on the Common (about 200 of them every night) are not a friendly crew. There's no feeling of comradeship among them, as you might imagine there would be. No "we're all unfortunates together so let's comfort each other" idea.

They come alone, keep to themselves, speak to no one and leave alone—when they do leave.

Some of them come from distant cities—and they've been known to ask a single question when they arrive in town. And the question, usually directed to the nearest policeman, is simply: "Where is your Common Park?"

The Roosevelts

by Hugh S. Johnson

WASHINGTON — The rubber-necking of the crowds that thronged Nahant Saturday, sports me. All the Roosevelt kids are fine samples of simple, modest and decent American youth. If a French Mayor gets squirted with fizzy water or an automobile exceeds the speed limit, it doesn't detract from that statement one bit.

General Johnson

They are American kids and hence full of pep and do not take themselves too seriously.

If they didn't happen to be children of the President, but just your kids or mine, you would never have heard anything about it.

Not one of them hunts the limelight and the kind of publicity under which they have to live is a constant burden of embarrassment.

That they remain as modest and sweet and decent as they are is something of a marvel considering the never-ceasing and universal pressure from every side to make them something else.

Some mistakes have been made but the wonder is that they are so few considering their almost limitless opportunity to make mistakes.

NEVERTHELESS, the President has been criticized for not sitting on them more. For crying out loud, do they have to live their lives in plaster casts because they happen to bear the misfortune to have had their father become famous?

The President isn't, by nature, much of a sitter-onner and he thinks his adult children have a right to live their own lives.

I think their record is pretty good as it stands and that if he had done more repressing it wouldn't have been any better.

It would just have made both him and them miserable.

Of all these children, none has a finer, happier, temperament and character than John. He was able to bear up while throngs of curious folks listened to the "loud bassoon," on the outside of the church, but it was too bad that there weren't also 200,000 ancient mariners to hypnotize each one of them with an old sailor's story about six miles back of the village limits as was done in the poem of that name.

But it's all right. In spite of all hot political issues, these young people will have the best wishes of 130,000,000 of their fellow citizens. When their honeymoon is over, they can get some peace and quiet. As soon as the seven days wonder of their wedding fades, they can almost live the lives of half-way human beings so long as they do not ride in trains, or visit restaurants, theaters or other public places.

THERE may be some percentage for a moving picture actor at the box office in the great American rubber-neck curiosity, but there is none whatever for a young married couple like Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt.

It was something of this constant staring and craning of necks which was partly responsible for the self-banishment of the Lindbergh family. I know several celebrities who have experienced more or less of it, but I don't know anybody to whom it is not a torment.

The Brighter Side

by Damon Runyon

IT SEEMS there is much interest in the big prize fight that is to take place in New York City this week between Joe Louis of the United States and Max Schmeling of Germany.

It is for the heavyweight championship of the world, now held by Louis who was frank enough to qualify the victory over Jim Braddock that gave him the title last year by saying:

"But ah ain't licked 'at Smelling yet."

Damon Runyon

You need not smile at Louis' pronunciation of Schmeling's name. Nearly every American pronounces the same way. Germans call it "Schmay-ling."

Louis' qualification was because Schmeling had knocked him out before he became champion. Maybe Schmeling would be champ now had he gotten the match with Braddock before Louis. Schmeling was supposed to get it but he got caught in the middle of a fight between boxing promoters and his side was out juggled.

The reason the Louis side wanted to get Braddock first was because they knew if Schmeling won the title he might never fight Louis again. Many persons think that if Schmeling wins the title he will take it to Germany as a sort of athletic trophy for the Nazis and never place it in competition outside that country and only against fighters there.

Some seem to feel that this would be perfectly terrible, but we are in a position to assure our readers that it would in no way affect the fate of nations. Really there are questions of much more importance than that of where the heavyweight title is lodged.

MAX SCHMELING is already an old man as prize fighters go and we repeat what we said the other day that what a young fellow should do to an old man in the ring is to walk right into him and belt him over before he gets to galloping. When an old man gets to galloping in the ring he gradually warms up and then he may be tough to belt over.

Should we meet brutality with greater brutality . . . turn back the calendar to the days of the rack and the [illegible] once again, the jungle blood-lust which [illegible]?

Young American EARL SCHULZ of STEVENSVILLE, MICH., thinks we should . . . applauds the [illegible] of a wide lasher which recently aroused such controversy.

Elsie Robinson

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"America would be a safer nation if our criminals were punished as in olden times. I would suggest making misdemeanor lawbreakers appear in public and be mocked or whipped instead of being jailed.

"The old forms of government made the criminal fear punishment and thus dread crime. A little action in this direction would do a lot of good.

"Our nation is entirely too lenient with lawbreakers!

"Earl Schulz, 21 years."

($10 PRIZE WINNER)

I wonder how many will agree with you, son. I don't. The beating of a wife is utterly vile. The man who does such a thing in a drunken frenzy should be punished to the full limit of DECENT LAW. But the enjoyment of a beating by spectators is as vile as the beating itself. And to my mind the look of glee on the faces in recent pictures of the whipping was as great an outrage against humanity—and as foul a blot on our American honor—as the blows that provoked. I was ashamed of my Americanism as I looked at those pictures. How did YOU feel about it?

NOW for a pleasanter subject. Young ANN GINNETTY OF RANDOLPH, MASS., a teacher herself resents the slurs cast by some at modern educational methods. Says she:

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"It makes me furious to hear our modern school system ridiculed. Modern teachers do NOT baby their students. We are trying by means of games, contests, projects and such learning devices, to teach more efficiently, by guiding the child's natural instincts and emotions into worthwhile channels.

"Just contrast the results teachers obtain nowadays with what they succeeded in accomplishing in Grandma's day! Have you noticed that children don't rush madly out of school in a wild dash for freedom, as they did formerly?

"Contrast the percentage of those who finish high school now with those who did even 20 years ago. I'll count my task well done if I can accomplish results and keep the children loving school.

"Ann E. Ginnetty, 24 years."

($10 PRIZE WINNER)

THERE'S one more perfectly swell reason for loving the Little Red Schoolhouse—a la 1938. And here's a Young American's scathing indictment of this modern world:

"Dear Elsie Robinson:

"Each year thousands of young graduates march out to conquer an unknown world, only to be rebuffed and beaten. It is a horrible thing to see young faces turning hard, young minds becoming warped by hopelessness.

"Until society prepares to give young men and women a place in the scheme of things, a position in which they can work off their boundless energy and make an honorable living—UNTIL THIS TIME ARRIVES, ALL THE CRIMES AND BREAKDOWNS OF YOUTH ARE ON THE CONSCIENCE OF SOCIETY.

"Mathilda Meyer, 23 years.

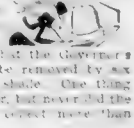
One Word Led to Another

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

INSPECTOR BYRNES never dealt with a stranger man than ex-Governor Moses of South Carolina, who was the first conspicuous Southerner to submit to the Reconstruction Act. He had been private secretary for another governor for two years, Speaker of the House for two years and himself governor for two years. Shortly after his term expired he started to victimize friend and foe alike.

In Chicago on July 27, 1884, he was given the freedom of the city without the keys for a little legal matter that evaporated in transit. But he was again surrounded in Detroit on October 12, 1884, for telling fairy tales to Dr. Rexford out of season. He was marooned three months for this under the name of Thomas May, but there is no doubt that May in October was Moses.

Boston officers picked him up in Detroit upon expiration of this sentence because Colonel Higginson of Cambridge passed $34 shortly after [illegible] shaking hands [illegible] with Governor Moses. On Feb [illegible] ruary 11, 1885, the Superior Criminal Court of Massachusetts taught that the Governor's freckles could be removed by six months in the shade. One thing followed another, but never did the Governor ever collect more than $30 at a clip.



The only charge against the distinguished gentleman at any time was making handshakes expensive.

Elizabeth Bergner Offered Special Part

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, June 20 - Elizabeth Bergner, who crept into the heart of America when she played the Paris waif in "Escape Me Never," may reach Hollywood before many months.

I am told Bergner, an exile from Germany, has been offered the James Hilton novel, We Are Not Alone, by Warner Bros., and as special star Ronald Colman as her leading partner.

Irene Dunne, who has had every studio at her front door trying to get her a movie tie, will star in Leo McCarey's first for RKO. I Love Alice by Leo has not been definitely set, but I am not surprised that Irene has chosen the McCarey comedy from her many because she has great faith in Leo as a director and he in the other's ability. Irene's latest admirer is Irving Cummings, who has been signed to direct her in Joy of Living, which Jerome Kern is writing for RKO. He was Walter Wanger's original choice for the picture.

Louella Parsons

Charles Boyer will have more women die over him and wear more suicide dresses than ever before in Conquest, which Clarence Brown has signed to direct for Walter Wanger at RKO. He was Wanger's original choice for the role of Napoleon in Marie Walewska, which Greta Garbo made famous.

A LINE OR TWO: Even Laurel and Hardy don't know it yet, but when they finish their eight weeks of personal appearances in Europe, they'll make their first Roach-United Artists comedy in London with a cast of English comedians . . . Eaves over Vincent Price's test: Hedda Hopper emphatically insists that Universal looks as if he will sign a contract if they can get together on price . . . Wendy Barrie has a protege, a Texas girl named Joey Barrie, to celebrate. Wendy says she's one sweet kid. Pick Powell and Bing Crosby a run for honors.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone holding hands at a night spot. Martha Auer snapping candid camera shots and getting a bouncy of Lupe and Johnny in a clinch at a night club. George Hart doesn't know whether to find it funny or sad to hear of Ilo court-martial. He came from the North in time to find his wife and Lionel Stander together. Martha Raye cheering the success of Deputy Jones and a test by Walt Disney. Lana Turner getting some work next week; she gave eight chauffeurs the gate. Jones and Ilona Ralston (now Mrs. Jones) . . .

Sinclair Lewis To Act Part In Own Play

Most interesting single event on New England's impending 'straw-hat' calendar will be the acting debut of Sinclair Lewis, celebrated American novelist, in his own "It Can't Happen Here," in Cohasset July 25.

Alexander Dean, managing director of the South Shore Players in presenting the Lewis drama which has been newly and completely revised by the author and is not the WPA version which was seen hereabouts some time ago.

Lewis, who has already arrived in Cohasset, is reported as greatly interested in the production and in his new acting venture as editor of his best-selling novel.

Another writer who is concerning himself with a summer theater production is Booth Tarkington who maintains a summer estate in Kennebunkport, Me. He is to be honored by the Garrick Players, who have planned a Booth Tarkington Drama Festival for August 1 through August 13 during which "Colonel Satan," "Seventeen" and "Clarence" are to be presented.

The Garrick Players this week season will open July 4 opening date also for Cohasset's South Shore Players.

The Cape Playhouse at Dennis whose excellent director, Raymond Moore this year is being assisted by Richard Aldrich as producing director promises a pleasantly distracting season.

Its 10 week season will open a week from tonight with "It Rains," a new play by Ward Green with Hollywood's Betsy Ross Mary Brian, June Walker and Margaret Wycherly.

Others deserting Broadway or Hollywood for the summer theater circuit stands are Ilka Chase on "Lightnin'" at the Bass Rocks Playhouse, Rockport; Lyn Daughter Dorothy Stone and her husband Charles Collins on an unnamed new play the week of July 11 at Previn-Wood Wharf Theater, Arthur Pyron on "Step Over," August 1 the Lakewood Players, Skowhegan, Me., Helen Vinson on "Once Is Enough," July 12 Theater By The-Sea, Matunuck R. I., and Nancy Carroll, Claudia Morgan and Fred Keating on "7-11" James Cain's new play August 1 at Alexander Dean's Cohasset Theater.

HEADED FOR CAPE—Patrons of Alexander Dean's Cohasset Theater, this summer, will have the pleasure of viewing Nancy Carroll and Claudia Morgan, shown above, in a new play "7-11" opening August 22. Both are actresses who have a fondness for Massachusetts summer theaters. The play is by James Cain.

'Created Equal' In 2nd Week

"Created Equal," John Hunter Booth's historical pageant of the past 160 years and the Federal Theater's most ambitious project continues for a second week at the Copley Theater.

More than 100 actors in the drama's 27 scenes highlight the major events in United States history from 1776 to the New Deal.

Principals in the cast include Louise Kirtland, Patricia Mackie, Elsa Tasiko, Evelyn Dorn, Cordelia McDonald, Arthur Barry, Frank Thomas, Joseph Wilson, George Richardson and Everett Gammon. With the exception of Gammon, a newcomer to the professional stage from Yale, who plays the leading role of Philip Schuyler, all of the featured players have appeared in previous local Federal Theater productions.

'Tundra' Seen At the Gayety

"Tundra," melodrama set in the Alaskan wilderness, tops the screen bill at the New Gayety this week. Also featured on the bill are "Little Miss Roughneck," starring the youthful Edith Fellowes and Wally Stevens Academy Reward Revue.

"Little Miss Roughneck" is little Miss Fellowes' first featured picture in which she sings. Leo Carrillo appears with her.

Olympia to Show 'Stolen Heaven'

"Stolen Heaven," melodrama featuring Gregory Peck, Gene Raymond and Lewis Stone will share program honors with "Women Are Like That," comedy of love and marriage among New Yorkers smart set, co-starring Pat O'Brien and Kay Francis, on the new Washington Street Olympia bill starting tomorrow.

Feed Working Man Right Kind Of Breakfast

FROM MARTHA LEES MONDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WMEX—11:30 A. M.

A I too often we dismiss breakfast in a very offhand way as being the least important of the usual three meals a day. But from the household point of view of the person who works for his living, it's far more important than most of us realize. After all, beginning the day with the right kind of food is just as important as the rest of the day's task no matter what the job may be. And for children who haven't reached the age of these words are just we don't need to impress upon you the importance of their type.

The [illegible] working man rarely gets up until the last minute when he has barely time left for a quick breakfast before starting for work. Give him a well-rested man's size of melon as an appetizer — and see that you get as much variety as possible into the way you prepare his eggs, and plenty of hot toast, coffee with or without cream as he prefers.

We're going to give you some egg recipes which, by the way, don't necessarily have to be confined to breakfast. We think you'll find them good for luncheon [illegible] too.

Joanne Bass Will Be Bride Today

By BETTY ALDEN

MRS. CHARLES SUMNER BIRD has supervised the wedding festivities for all her married granddaughters but probably none of the marriages has caused such widespread social interest as that of granddaughter Joanne Bass and Marshall Field, Jr., which takes place this afternoon . . . According to family tradition Joanne and Marshall are receiving their guests at "Endean" Mrs. Bird's lovely old estate in East Walpole, following their marriage in the Union Church nearby . . .

Marshall, Jr., of the famous Chicago family, was an usher at John Roosevelt's wedding Saturday . . . where dark eyed Joanne smilingly acknowledged loads of pre-wedding best wishes, her summery blue and white print and leghorn picture hat a striking contrast to the beautiful creation of tulle and satin in which she becomes Mrs. Field, Jr., this afternoon . . . Her wedding gown is made with a long scalloped train and her dark, curly hair is wreathed with orange blossoms which hold the tulle veil in place . . . Her bouquet combines lilies of the valley and white orchids . . .

Green and white is the color scheme Joanne has planned for her attendants' costumes as well as the church decorations . . . Net frocks of pale green made on peasant lines and bouquets of shasta white flowers grace the seven girls who precede her down the aisle . . . Her sister Edith who heads the Farmington Adair Bureau, formerly of Maryland, is matron of honor . . . with two cousins Anita Bird and Mrs. Joanne Shaw Parker, are also in the picture with Mrs. Anthony Bliss, Mrs. John Harrison, Ann Child and Margaret Altschul completing the group . . .

Two of John Roosevelt's ushers are serving in the same capacity for Marshall . . . John Graham, president of Hasty Pudding theatricals a year ago, and John Lyman . . . Others in the group include the brothers Perkins Bass, Anthony Bliss, Donald McKelvar who is engaged to Doris Peters of Boston; G. Baty Blake, Sidney and Archibald Foster, of Chicago and Thomas Bullitt of Kentucky . . .

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perkins Bass of Peterboro, N. H. and is related to many of Boston's most aristocratic families . . .

The newlyweds will spend their honeymoon in Europe . . . Marshall is a member of the graduating class at Harvard where he belongs to the Hasty Pudding and Fly Clubs . . .

Roosevelt Guests Dance in Magnolia

After pelting John and Anne Roosevelt with rose petals and shouting farewells as the newlyweds sped away from their wedding reception, many of the guests from the North Shore hustled home and changed into evening togs for dinner and dancing at the Casino, in Magnolia . . .

Jane Harte, who was the center of a group of Harvard men all afternoon at the wedding reception later joined the two Warren girls, Lilly and Camilla, at a festive table at the Casino . . . while the Nelson Aldriches who lingered at the reception for President and Mrs. Roosevelt departed, joined some of their young married contemporaries for an evening of dancing . . . Mrs. Aldrich varied her color scheme, from the striking gray and yellow costume in which she shook hands with wedding guests, to a lovely powder blue tulle evening gown . . . She even changed her hair-do for the evening . . . brushing it severely off her face and catching it behind her ears with diamond clips . . .

Mike Starling winked her long lashes fast to keep the tears back.

"Somewhat better. The doctor says we can bring Jimmie home in about two weeks. She couldn't go on." The old man looked at her over his glasses, patted her hand which rested on a pile of magazines.

Austen Lake Says

Louis Impressive As He Ends Ordeal

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., JUNE 20—A multicolored steaming mass of humanity had waited in the fenced enclosure since mid-morning for a glimpse of their golden boy. The champion business-fighter of the world lay in his upstairs bed chamber, doing some light snoozing. Around his garden railings hundreds of faces, ranging in color from cream to cocoa, were turned wistfully toward the little stone cottage. A white-polled Negro in a clergyman's regimentals shepherded a group of parishioners who sat like worshippers in the ringside pews. Pancake mammies with gingerbread babies sat on the circus seats. Sloe-eyed maidens with smoky complexions hung on the arms of dark dudes. Stags in Harlem haberdashery clung to the ridgepole of the training sheds.

All had come to see Joe Louis, their "Symbol of Dark Deliverance," complete his sparring for Wednesday's showdown match against Max Schmeling. For, to them, Louis is more than just a fighter. To the bewildered sons of Ham he is a come-uppance, a "Judgement," and a "Sword of Wrath."

AUSTEN LAKE

It was 3 p.m. when [illegible] away from the cramped [illegible] who had come to touch his robe and get his blessing.

Hostesses seemed to be legion as [illegible] the big 15 minutes [illegible] for a personal [illegible] Schmeling.

By contrast with Schmeling's body [illegible] like and powerful. [illegible] with the long left [illegible] and [illegible] with the manner of a bellicose bar bouncer. Nicholas was [illegible] and fighting at another range than was [illegible] Jack Blackburn, Mike [illegible] Chappie.

But he was he.

Yes, he was he with [illegible] than a few of Nicholas's right-for-cracker spats as [illegible] Schmeling [illegible] next Wednesday. I [illegible] Louis [illegible] had his left hand low as [illegible] reflexes failed [illegible]

Nicholas [illegible] that [illegible] with [illegible] fast-cushion [illegible] But [illegible] to think that Schmeling [illegible] but under his [illegible] and [illegible] him quicker and [illegible]

LOUIS MUST ENDS [illegible] two years ago I [illegible] Schmeling [illegible] Louis [illegible] Schmeling [illegible]

In fact, to win Wednesday, Schmeling must knock him out, for the German has neither the speed nor the sustained pace to outpoint the Negro over 15 rounds. Also, one suspects that if the outcome rests on a vote of referee and judges with the contest close, the verdict will diplomatically go to the champion. There is, in fact, all the elements of an international yowl in this one.

MR. BOSTON

Schmeling at Peak For Louis Bout | Jacobs Predicts Kayo in Ninth

By JACK CONWAY

McCoy Risks All In Pastor Go

SPECULATOR, N. Y., JUNE 20—MAX SCHMELING had boxed six rounds with his sparring partners, punched the big bag for a round, and completed two sessions of rope skipping. With his German trainer, Max Machon, and Joe Jacobs, his manager, he had retired to his lodge on the lake here for a rubdown, and a discussion of the strong and weak points brought out by the training session.

Mr. Boston

There was a curious crowd of several thousand persons standing in groups outside of the entrance to the lodge. A detail of New York state troopers kept the sightseers back.

Tom Farley, former sheriff and brother of Postmaster-General James A. Farley, was given a cordial greeting by the police, and escorted to a seat on the porch of the lodge. Farley had his two children with him, and they were anxious to have their pictures taken with Der Max.

When Chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, James A. Farley barred Schmeling out of New York State until he went through with his promise to meet Jack Sharkey in a return bout.

James A. Farley always kept his word, and he insisted that those who came under his jurisdiction when he was boxing commissioner do the same thing.

I told one of the newspapermen of the police detail to send a word to Schmeling and to Joe Jacobs that I wanted to see them.

In another minute I was shaking with the German, as he sat on the edge of a cot, busy unlacing his shirt.

Max was glad to see me, and first asked for Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko. He was interested in Sharkey's tavern, and in what the former champion intended doing since he got out of the navy.

Schmeling showed no picture of physical fitness. His eyes were clear and his body looked trim, but his face was a bit drawn as a result of the training period.

I knew from experience that the faces drawn before an important bout indicate that the boxer is in the pink of condition and prepared to show at his best under fire.

"How did you like the way I worked?" Max asked me.

I told him that he looked as if he knew how to fight and that he is a much better boxer than when he fought Jack Sharkey.

"You do not make any mistakes now," I said. "I noticed you would spin your sparring partners, and punch them when they were off balance."

"I have improved as a boxer," replied Schmeling. "I have been practicing a great deal with a left jab and a left hook. I know what I can do with my right hand, and so have not devoted much attention to it."

Joe Jacobs [illegible] Schmeling was [illegible] hand on Wednesday, and he believe the officials will [illegible] Max the decision [illegible] the distance of 15 rounds.

"Don't you worry, Joe, I'll knock him out," said Schmeling. "No, I won't predict the round. I have 15 rounds to work on Louis, and that will be more than enough.

"Last time I knocked Louis out in the twelfth round. I could have done so earlier if I had wished to take chances, but it wasn't necessary to do so. I had Louis beaten, and took my time about putting over the finishing punch."

Says Teachers Confuse Louis

I asked [illegible] if he thought Jimmy Braddock, Henry A[illegible] and Jack Armstrong had been able to improve Louis as a boxer.

"Isn't it funny," said Max, "for the super man of two years ago to be sent back to school to learn something about boxing? I think all this last minute coaching will confuse Louis.

"Braddock tells him to keep throwing punches from the opening gong.

"Armstrong advises Joe to keep his head bobbing and to barrage punches when at close quarters.

"Jack Blackburn schools him on keeping his left hand popping. Somebody else gives him another way to beat me.

"I really feel sorry for Louis. He must be very confused even now, and he will be more so once the bout starts."

Joe Jacobs was [illegible] Max's views [illegible] In [illegible] Jacobs [illegible] Schmeling at the age of [illegible] feel if it was a [illegible]

"I shall be all right under such conditions," replied Schmeling. "Nature has blessed me with a powerful body, and I have preserved it. I think physically I am as powerful as when I was 28. I have yet to start going back.

"I think the fact I have lived an outdoor life and have kept good hours has enabled me to retain my youth. I like the life here in Speculator with the silence of the nights, and the solitude of my lodge on the shore of the lake during the day.

"In Germany, I also live quietly. I never cared for night life which proves so fascinating to many boxers.

"Ever since the night I knocked out Louis two years ago, I have lived for next Wednesday night. Every move I have made has been for the purpose of helping to prepare myself better to knock Louis out and regain the heavyweight championship of the world."

The "New McCoy" as he concluded training for tonight's ten-round bout with Bob Pastor in the Garden. Al, who was beginning to look more like an alderman than a title contender, has streamlined himself into perfect trim for this all-important go. A decisive victory will put him among the heavyweight elite, in the front running for shot with champion.

'I'll Make Him Quit,' Says Louis of Teuton

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 20 (INS Bulletin)—The [illegible] was the one thing Joe Louis had on his mind in discussing his return 15-round heavyweight title fight with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium Wednesday night.

As [illegible] and [illegible] Louis [illegible] Schmeling [illegible] Bruce [illegible] received two messages [illegible] welcoming [illegible] Down Beater [illegible] letter [illegible] he [illegible] to wish the man who [illegible] Louis help [illegible]

Joe Louis

"I have only one request to make of the boxing commission and that is that under no condition must our fight be stopped by the referee," said Louis.

"I went down fighting last time, and I want Schmeling to go down the same way. The referee must not interfere until one of us is counted out.

"I proved I could take a licking without wincing. I want to see if Max can do the same thing. I doubt it.

"In my opinion, he quit cold to Max Baer. He did the same thing in both his fights with Jack Sharkey.

"I'll give him enough to remember me for life."

Kayo Win May Mean Title Shot

Gunning for a knockout victory, Al McCoy, New England heavyweight champion, moves into the most important bout of his career tonight at the Boston Garden when he fights Bob Pastor, who went 10 rounds with Joe Louis, in the feature event of the Goodwin A. C. Ring show, scheduled for 10 frames.

McCoy, in [illegible] condition for [illegible] golden opportunity, has become an overnight betting favorite over former N. Y. U. grid star who made the champion of the world look sad and the quite easily in his professional debut. Louis has refused to give Pastor another chance.

Bob Pastor

Tonight McCoy can move right into the first ranks in the heavyweight race but he's got to win by a knockout to do so.

The [illegible] can make the champion look [illegible] a [illegible] and, by the [illegible] process of elimination, [illegible] up the Pastor. McCoy's name will be mentioned with those of Baer, Farr, Galento & Co. in the [illegible] Max [illegible] ing the [illegible] the [illegible] Pastor [illegible] and [illegible] Al [illegible] to be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Babe Must Be Asking for Lift Around Bases

10,000 More Than Usual Cheer Brooklyn Debut

By BOB CONSIDINE

International News Service Sports Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 20 (INS)—George Herman Ruth, a retired business man who lives in a 14-room apartment on Riverside Drive, arose bright and early at 10 30 o'clock, brushed his full keyboard of teeth, washed his broad flat face, breakfasted lightly on a dozen scrambled eggs and a stack or two of pancakes, combed his bartender's hair, and went to work for the first time since the spring of 1935.

He went to work in a big, purring dowager of a limousine, accompanied by his wife and daughter. He was expected.

Inside the bilious blue Ebbets field, a battalion of cameramen had taken their positions with lenses focused on the home plate. Babe had been appointed coach of the Dodgers, but he was still a hitter to the cameramen.

When he took his place at first in the first inning of the double-header against the Cubs, the crowd of 28,073—ten thousand above normal—gave him a ringing cheer. He waved to them as he waddled to his place, still possessed of that strange communion with baseball mobs.

You would have thought he had just hit a home run with the bases filled in the last inning of a World Series.

Here's how the Babe coaches:

He slaps his fat hands together a lot, and his full fat lips holler encouragement in a resonant bass. He paces up and down on his impossible legs. Once he nearly fell down on a particularly clone play at first base.

The first man he "sent down" to second—Kiki Cuyler in the fourth—was thrown out by three yards.

In the fifth inning, with the bases clogged, an infielder's throw went through Collins at first and rolled over toward the Dodger dugout.

Babe excitedly waved all the runners on, but they all disobeyed him, and it was just as well. For the ball bounced off the wall of a side-line box and Collins could have thrown out any man by 40 feet.

It was a good gala day and another milestone in the life and loves of the most remarkable sports figure of our generation.

The only surprise was that Grimes was still manager at the end of the day, and the only mystery was why Babe was made the first base coach.

Who ever saw him stop there when he was playing?

Kramer Rates M'Liss at Top

By MURRAY KRAMER

BEST BET—M'LISS, TENTH

M'Liss, which has been running in all sorts of hard luck, is on the outside tonight in the nightcap at Wonderland Park, Revere, and goes down on the books as the best bet of the night.

I am giving Linda Darling one more chance in the eighth race feature. This greyhound is much better than the records show.

Sparky Speaks

No-Hit Mark Gift to Girl, Says Vandy

on working to gain control, to fit himself for big-league pitching.

At the end of the International League season, Johnny returned to finish the National League with the Reds.

LEVEL-HEADED KID

And now, Vander Meer has stepped ahead of all the great pitchers in baseball—of Cy Young, Walter Johnson, Christy Matheson, Ed Walsh. He's done something the best of them never achieved. He's pitched two no-hit games in a row.

What does Johnny himself think of it? ?

"I think," he said, "that I still have a long way to go before I can live up to some of the things that are being said. I certainly haven't convinced myself, yet, that I'm a 'great pitcher.'"

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

But there are three people, at least, who are convinced of that. They are his mother and dad, and his best girl, Lois Stewart.

"I met Lois in Scranton a couple of years ago," he said. "She saw my second no-hit game with the Dodgers last week.

"You see," he added with a grin, she'd missed the first one with the Bees, so she told me to pitch another no-hit game for her."

That, we think, should make Lois immortal, too.

Lois is the daughter of a Scranton policeman. Johnny's father, incidentally, is a stone mason, and came to America from Holland, 35 years ago.

At present, Johnny's salary is only $3000 a year—which is a mere pittance compared to what he should and will receive next year.

And in conclusion, let it be known that Johnny Vander Meer is 23 years old, 6 feet tall, and weighs 170 pounds.

Armstrong, Garcia To Meet on Coast

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (AP)—Promoter Tom Gallery announced today Harry Armstrong had agreed to meet Ceferino Garcia in an outdoor bout here next September, with the Negro's welterweight title at stake.

Gallery said Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, had accepted a guarantee of $60,000.

ITALY SOCCER KING

PARIS, June 20 (AP)—Italy won the World Cup soccer championship here, defeating Hungary, 4 to 2, in the final match before a great crowd. Italy was the defending champion.

Keaney's Best Goes in Eighth

By MATTHEW KEANEY

BEST BET—CAVALCADE CARESS—EIGHTH RACE

TAUNTON, June 20—For the opening night of the third week of dog racing at the Briston County Kennel Club plant here tonight, I am taking Cavalcade Caress for my best bet on the card. This one goes in the featured eighth and breaks from the two box.

There are those who figure Cauld Kail best out of the one box, but the truth is the Sparks pup does not run to best advantage from an inside position. Glouna Louna figures closest to Cavaleade Caress in my book.

I look to see a hangup race in the co-featured ninth where Guiding Band hooks up with Lady Clerk, Hurry By and Mrs. Simpson. This should prove a camera finish with the most likely winner Guiding Band.

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY

7	Transporter	64	W. L. Bryant	8-1

JEWEL ANN should show improvement here and if she breaks, should win handily. SQUAREHEAD, which has shown a tendency to step, should make the going. MISTER TICKLER should save what is left.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE

JESSIE BREEZE, CLICK, SPACE

4	Jess. Breeze	54	G. Lippold, Jr.	3-1
2	Click	62	Forbe Spencer	5-1

Fette Opposes 2nd Place Reds

Danny Mac Back Soon; Lanning 'In'

By WALTER KILEY

Now that the Bees have finally broken Johnny Vander Meer's brilliant no-hit, no-run streak, much to the peace of mind and contentment of the sensational southpaw, the Bees and Cincinnati can settle down to some degree of normalcy today as they meet in the third and final game of the shortened series at the Beehive.

Thanks to Vandy's Sabbath victory and the mighty hitting of his Redleg mates behind him, Cincinnati today, almost incredibly, is ensconced in second place in the National League standings, paced only by the Giants.

And the team which a year ago finished a miserable eighth, has risen in might and, under a new manager, Will McKechnie, has come to be the most dreaded club in the loop.

Yet the Bees dropped to the second division through the one defeat to the reds, are only two games off the Reds, five off the Giants, as the pennant race tightens.

Lou Fette

Fortunately for the Bees, the injury to Danny MacFayden suffered in the fourth inning of the washed-out nightcap, proves less serious than at first reported.

Dr. Eddie O'Brien, team surgeon, announces, after X-ray findings, no fracture of the bones of the Deacon's pitching hand, so that the Swarm's ace right hander should be ready to return to active duty in a week or 10 days.

In the meanwhile Lou Fette and Johnny Lanning will carry on with Jim Turner and Mil Shoffner as starting regulars, Fette getting the call today as he goes after that elusive second win on the year.

The Stengelmen had reason to be thankful for the rain which fell in a deluge and forced the call-off of the second game Sunday.

That rain, it seems certain, cost the Reds a double win, and saved the Bees a complete downfall before the 35,000 attendance.

The Redlegs needed only one more putout to have their win a legal one, with two of the Swarm's batters having been retired by Bucky Walters by the strikeout route in the fifth innings.

St. Augustine Plays Casey's

Tonight marks the opening of the second round of play in the Boston Park League. A little additional strength will be spread around the circuits during the next few weeks when the college players will be free to jump back in the fold.

The headline attraction for the evening brings together those two popular neighbors, the Casey Club of Neponset and the St. Augustine of South Boston, in what should be a whale of a battle.

In the second intersectional tilt the Holy A. A. under the managership of Johnny DeLang, will entertain the Roslindale Town Club at Fallon Field, Roslindale.

At Smith Pond, Hyde Park, the Tribunes will meet the Brighton Civics for the third time and attempt to make it three straight. Dineen will display his pitching paw for the local nine, while McLaughlin will pitch for the Civics.

The Agnew Club and McDonoughs tilt at the Lee Playground, South Boston.

Connie's Day

Cleveland Honors Grand Old Man

CLEVELAND, June 20 (AP)—It was "Connie Mack Day" here, but the Cleveland Indians gave no quarter and handed the veteran's players a 5 to 4 beating in the final game of the series before 20,000 spectators.

Prior to the game, the 76-year-old leader was called to the center of the diamond and presented with a scroll autographed by every player in organized baseball and gifts from the Cleveland Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association and the Knights of Columbus. The fans gave him a tremendous ovation.

William Harridge, president of the American League, headed the list of dignitaries who came here to honor baseball's "Grand Old Man."

Budge Winner In 3 Sets

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 20 (INS)—In a performance that was little more than a one-sided exhibition of style and sped, Don Budge, champion of America, France and Australia, took the first step toward another Wimbledon crown today by defeating the Indian player, Gandar Dower, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3, 6—3.

At no time was the Oriental any kind of a match for the red-headed Californian, who took the opportunity to experiment with his whole repertory of shots.

In other opening-day men's singles matches, M. Kosinkie of Japan beat C. E. Hare of England, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 and Heinar Henkel, German ace, disposed of D. M. Bull of Britain, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Roderich Menzel, Czechoslovakian giant, defeated G. W. S. Fitt of England, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

AUSTIN WINS

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's No. 1 player, was carried to five sets before he managed to eliminate the comparatively unknown Briton, Eric Filby, 4—6, 6—1, 3—6, 6—4, 6—3.

Roderich Menzel, Czechoslovakian ace, advanced to the second round with a 6—3, 7—5, 6—3 victory over G. W. S. Fitt of England.

Franz Kukuljevic of Yugoslavia who pushed Budge in the French court championships, was forced to five sets before he beat D. W. Butler, English Davis Cup player, 2—6, 2—6, 6—3, 6—4, 6—2.

William Robertson, one of the five Americans entered in the men's singles, was eliminated by B. Maneff of Switzerland, 6—3, 6—4, 1—6, 6—3.

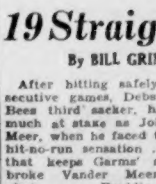
19 Straight Games for Garms

By BILL GRIMES

After hitting safely in 19 consecutive games, Debs Garms, the Bees third sacker, had about as much at stake as Johnny Vander Meer, when he faced the Reds' no-hit-no-run sensation . . . The hit that keeps Garms' string intact broke Vander Meer's 21-inning chain . . . Freddie Corcoran is about ready to announce a $12,500 tournament which will be held within a 100 miles of Philadelphia . . .



Debs Garms

Sebby Sisti and Clif Boyd, two of the most promising youngsters the Bees ever acquired, left for Hartford today with Jack Onslow and Billy Myers. . . . They have been turned over to Manager Eddie Onslow for development . . . Although he is the best looking prospect in the schoolboy ranks, Art Johnson, Winchester high school southpaw, whom John Quinn has taken under his wing, didn't get better than an honorable mention from the All Scholastic pickers.

Now that Brooklyn has Larry McPhail, Babe Ruth, "Bolly" Grimes, "Lippy" Leo Durocher and Van Lingle Mungo under one tent, all the Dodgers need is a flea circus . . . McPhail's $110,000 lights are duds or they weren't properly focused when Johnny Vander Meer pitched his second no hitter . . . There was a bad shadow at the plate for left hand hitters, and right field was as dark as a cellar . . .

Elmer Ward will fly some of the big time golfers, who are playing in the Palm Beach Invitation at Cincinnati to New York for the Louis-Schmeling fight . . . By the way in the Palm Beach Invitation, the contestants will play in threesomes, and it will require seven rounds to decide the winner . . . It's a great field, for no less than seven members of the United States Ryder Cup team have accepted invitations . . . Dick Metz withdrew, and Vic Ghezzi was substituted . . .

The Cincinnati Reds wore their new Palm Beach uniforms in the second game . . . They should have donned oilskins . . . After watching his Bees get a real shellacking in the first game, Casey Stengel managed to eke out a couple of breaks . . . The second game was declared "No Contest" when the Reds needed to get but one more man out while leading 1 to 0 . . . When Danny MacFayden was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital by Bob Quinn, "Old Case" was positive the "Deacon" was lost for the season . . . The X-ray failed to show any broken bones in MacFayden's hand, and Danny will be back in action in a fortnight.

Old-Timers Can't 'See' Vander Meer

By WALTER KILEY

Deb Garms was quite pleased with himself when his fourth inning single t. center, making the 18th consecutive game in which he safely connected, broke Johnny Vander Meer's no-hit streak after 21 2-3 innings.

But Garms was no more "tickled" than Vandy, himself. That hit removed the tension from the Reds' now famous southpaw, who no longer has the awesome spectre of no-hitters to confront him.

* * *

Casey Stengel, Bees' manager, was one of those who did not think that the 23-year-old Cincinnati sensation had as much stuff as he did the day he vanquished the Swarm in his first of two successive "Hall-of-Famers."

* * *

Vandy's performance over a stretch of four games fell just shy of Old Cy Young's 23 inning record for hitless offerings.

* * *

Young watched every move of Vander Meer from a close-up box. And was not too duly impressed. Nor was Hugh Duffy of the Red Sox family, one of the game's greatest batters.

Hugh Duffy

Both thought Vander Meer merely threw them in there, and never twice pitched to the same spot, thereby, in their opinion, attesting to his lack of real control.

Vandy had none to blame for the run scored off him other than himself. He was touched for a hit by Gil English to start the seventh inning, and then passed DiMaggio, Warstler and Maggert, the last walk forcing English home with the run which spoiled a streak of 33 scoreless innings.

The bases were filled in that same inning, and the count was 3 and 2 on Fletcher when Umpire Charlie Moran called Elbie out on strikes on a pitch which everybody in the park thought was inside, and a ball.

Will McKechnie took the halting of the second game in philosophical manner after his first wrath had evaporated.

"I suppose we'd have been glad to get the same good break had conditions been reversed," he said.

* * *

McKechnie was almost sick to the stomach, he said, after seeing Danny MacFayden's injured hand.

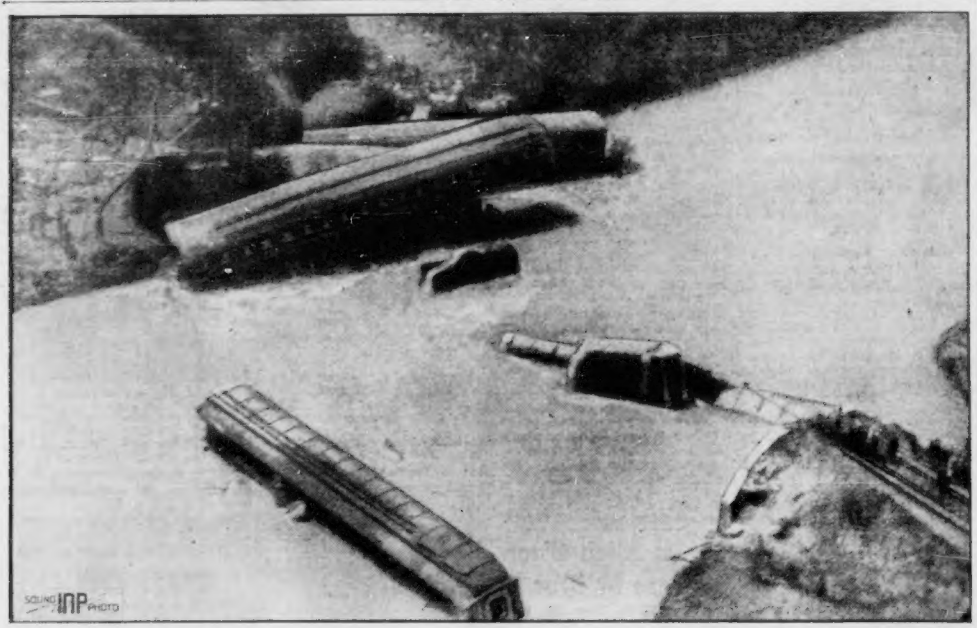
Rip Cars for Bodies

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20 (AP)—Custer Creek, where the Milwaukee Railroad's "Olympian" train crashed through a flood-weakened bridge early yesterday, carrying nearly 40 persons to death, receded to only six inches in depth today and crews began cutting apart the tangled debris to reach one tourist sleeper where many bodies remained.



Cloudburst's Victim—Crack train of the Milwaukee railroad is shown as workers fought to raise sunken car, to find more bodies, in Saugus, Mont. At least 40 are dead and missing, following dive of seven cars when cloudburst weakened bridge. Trickle of water under span became raging torrent in brief minutes, before tragedy.

Heavy silt, flowing into the sleeper while it was submerged, forced workers to abandon attempts to raise it with cranes.

The all-steel construction of the train made this work difficult.

Coroner Stanley Guy of Prairie County, Mont., scene of the tragedy, the worst in recent years in American railroading, said he would delay his inquest until after recovery of the bodies.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, however, began an inquiry. Two inspectors, F. F. Engles and A. C. Murphy, were at the scene of the wreck.

Sixteen bodies, 11 of them identified, have been recovered from the wreckage. Another, that of an unidentified woman, was taken from the Yellowstone river, into which Custer creek flows, about 50 miles from the scene of the tragedy.

BODIES SWEPT AWAY

Porters told of seeing as many as five or six bodies carried away by the 20-foot flood that rolled down the creek.

The flood waters, which had carried out a 180-foot bridge just before the fast air-conditioned train arrived at the crossing early yesterday, continued to subside slowly today.

As the muddy water fell back from the windows of the half overturned car, witnesses said they could see the bodies of passengers, some still in their seats. Lights in the sleeper had burned eerily almost until dawn.

TRAGEDY IN A TRICE

A track walker had reported Custer Creek, 26 miles east of Miles City, almost dry just a few minutes before the train arrived.

But the flood water was running almost at track level when
